CHAINS-(chānz)

n. 1. A binding force of links. Bonding. Connects; holds together. 2. Anything that restrains or confines. 3. Bonds, fetters, or shackles. 4. Any series of connected or related things. 5. To bind or fetter, confine. 6. A connected series of flexible links. tr. v. chained, chaining, chains

We have now come into the "Knew Generation" – a generation for breaking chains, a generation full of new ideas and goals.

We have seen new laws passed, drastic changes made in lifestyles, and a whole chain of events leading us into the Iran Crisis. We have heard of nothing but campaign speeches, national disasters, and the escapades of Anita Bryant. We have felt the unease and distrust of our government and the rivalry between countries.

We have also seen each other grow up, studying until midnight for semester exams, and working toward goals. We have heard people laugh and cry, endless lectures, the band perform perfectly, and the first hour bell together. We have felt the closeness of a class, the joy of winning a big game, and the caring of a special teacher. We have smelled the sweat and the Ben Gay rubbed on sore legs. We have tasted the cinnamon rolls at lunch, success and defeat.

We have sensed it all . . .

They say that a chain is only as strong as its weakest link. None of us will be weak if we have friends on either side supporting us. We are each a link on this chain. We all belong to it and are important to its construction.

There comes a time, however when we must break away from the old chain, to form new links in new chains. Until then, hold on tight.

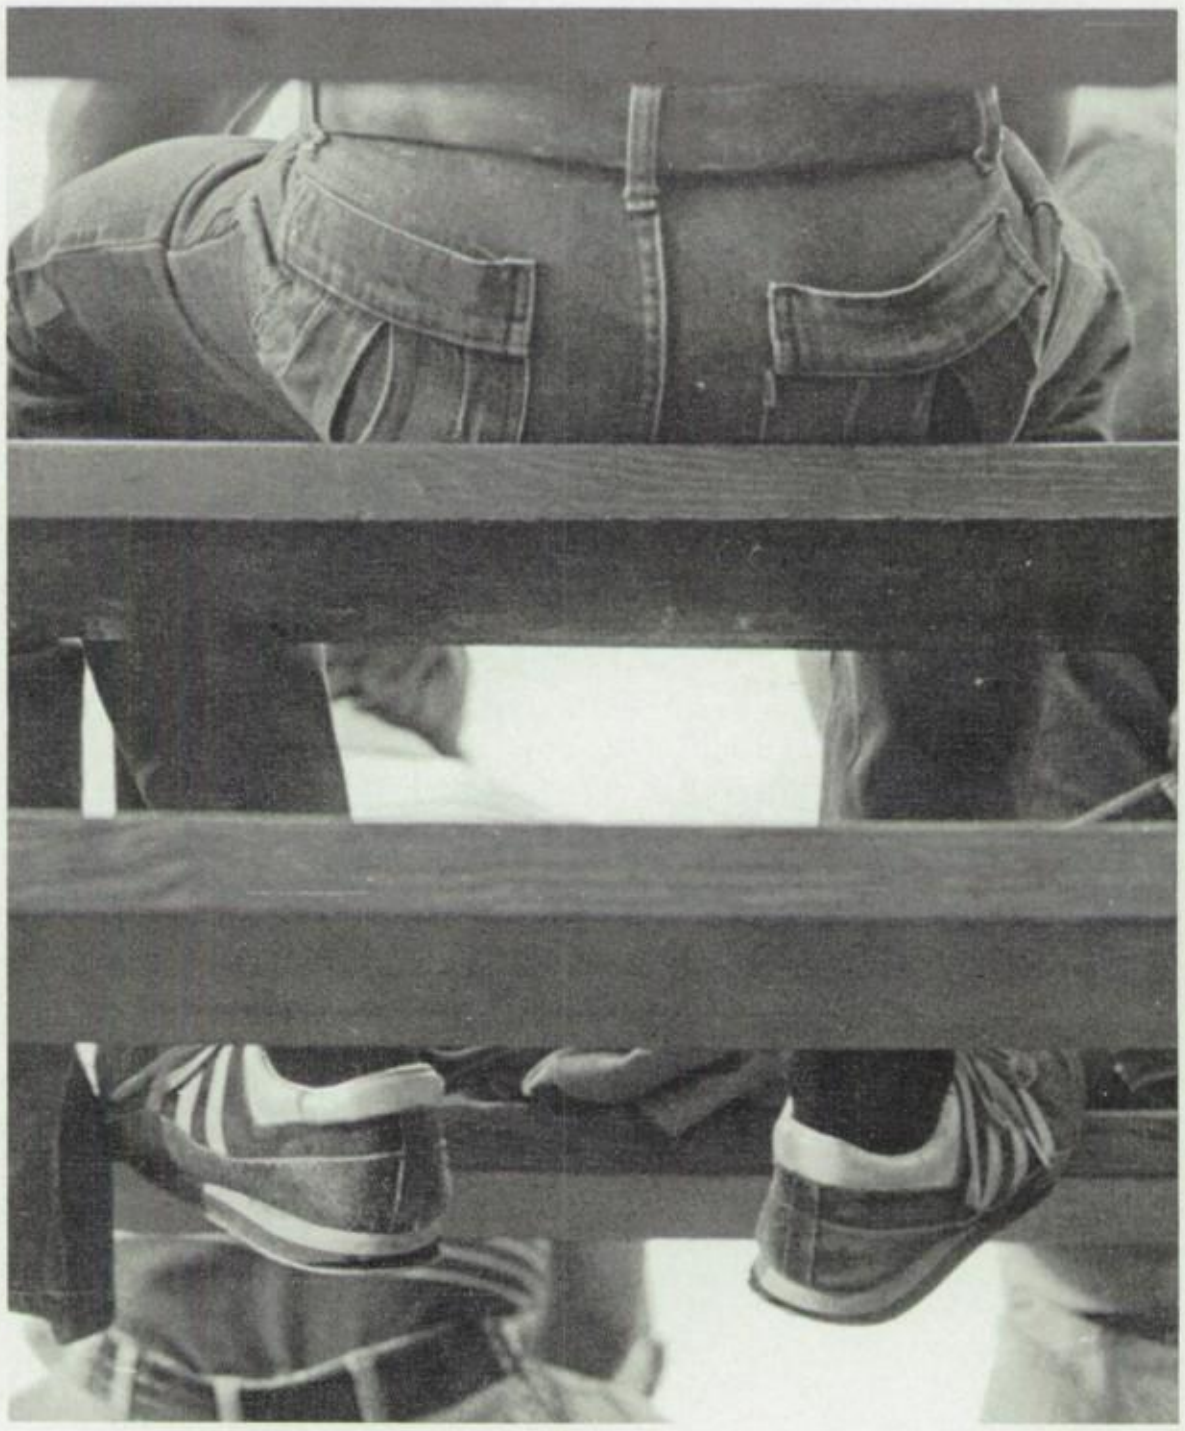
Summer Days

What does a heat wave, a lot of sun and fun equal? (Summer!) 7 Ponds opened for the first time. Many students spent a majority of their summer either working or relaxing. The county fair was another place where a lot of fun days and exciting nights were spent, from the anticipation of the queen contest to the thrill of soaking Mr. Howell with buckets of water. The softball and baseball teams sweat through many scorching games, and Mr. Howell's softball team sweat through their share of games, too.

What's scratchy, wet, and gives you a rash when you walk through them? Beans! What about all the kids who slaved away in the bean fields from early morning to dusk. You can bet after their day was over, they were ready for a 'Nestea plunge' or 'something'.

The yearbook staff kept busy working on the yearbook and even went to Iowa City to look at other schools' accomplishments.

On the way home from South Dakota you could hear the band members saying "take the short way home."



Murlin's wife, a special friend

A woodsy path leads to his garden.

Murlin: A Man Breaking The Chain

After twenty-six years of serving the Mediapolis Community School District – twenty-two years at Huron, the past four at Mediapolis – Murlin Westphal is retiring.

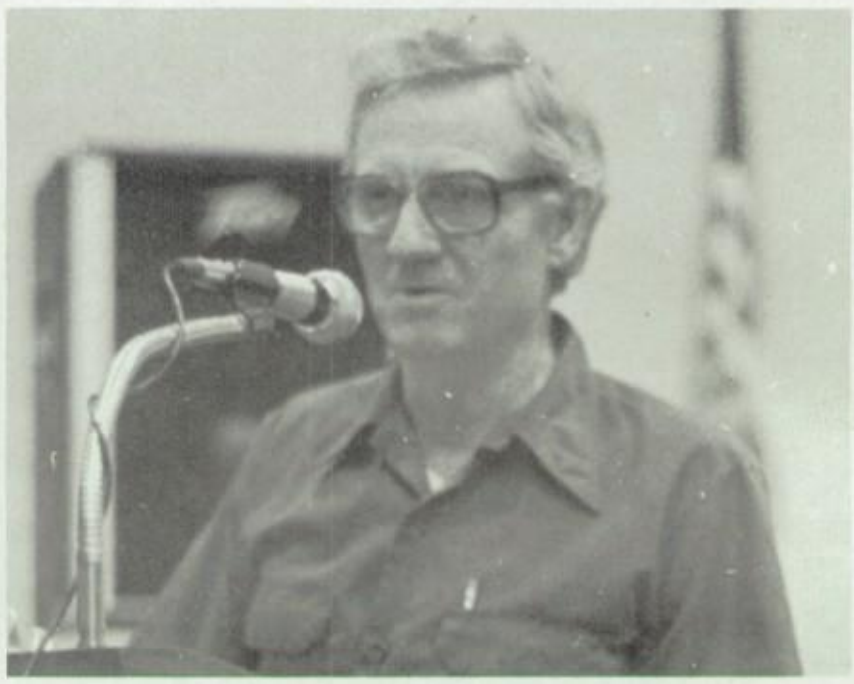
Murlin, who's on a first name basis with everyone, started his janitorship at Huron school, in 1954. As he tells it, he "didn't know any more about being a janitor than a pig knows about flies," but he learned fast! One of the first things he tried was to figure out which soap he should use to scrub the floors. He and his wife decided the detergent would clean the best, so he spent an entire morning scrubbing the third floor. At lunch, his wife asked him how it was going. He said it wasn't sudsy, wasn't cleaning too well, and stunk like fly spray. Sure enough, after lunch they found he'd been using 2-4D instead of detergent. "It didn't get rid of no dirt, but it sure got rid of the flies!" chuckled Murlin.

Another of his memories from Huron has to do with his method of getting rid of gophers. Whenever Murlin mowed the lawn, he'd wear his safari hat, and carry a 4-10 shotgun. If he saw a gopher, he'd promptly shoot it. Then his wife would take a picture of him, holding the gopher by the tail, and caption it, "lion hunter in Africa."

The stone wall took many hours of labor.

From the Huron graduates.

Murlin and co-worker, Bill Ivey



A special gift for Murlin

If it's true that the best judges of a man are his peers, Murlin is again at the top. Bill Ivey, a fellow janitor, paid Murlin one of the highest compliments. He said, "Murlin is highly dedicated. It's like a love affair, Murlin about married his job." For that statement, there is much supporting evidence.

Working for the school for so long makes Murlin a qualified expert on many things.

Murlin has kids figured out. He's decided that about five percent are ornery, another ten percent think they are, and the last eighty-five percent are really good – meaning we're in "good shape."

Murlin is always doing something to better the place. For instance, he planted most of the thirty-three trees that once made up the lawn at Huron School.

Maybe it's all of the little extras that Murlin comes up with that make him special.

He used to warm-up the Huron teachers' cars when it was cold out, and he'd wait to make sure they all got on their way.

How do the students feel about him? You need only sit in the study hall one day, and observe the students when Murlin sings or whistles as he drags his cart down the hall. Everyone smiles . . . understanding and appreciating, together. Or, if you were at the Awards Assembly or Commencement, you saw their love. The students were the first ones up, for both standing ovations.

Murlin will be missed because he carried out his own philosophy: to have a mind of your own.

The students gave Murlin a standing ovation on Awards Day.

80

A big link of our school life is our activities outside of class. All the excitement and anticipation surrounding the Homecoming week, Prom night and Sno Ball cannot be matched. And what about all the countles hours of work put into organizing and preparing for the Jr. Carnival, Coffee House, and the musical? So much of the work behind such events goes unnoticed, as does much of the activity . . .

Success 'Linked' to Crowd Particpation

The crowds played a vital part in the success of Homecoming '79. Events such as the slave auction allowed the class members to participate. The sign parade was another activity in which many got involved to support the Bulldogs.

1. Mr. Kerr explains his answer to Gladys during the Should-Be-Wed game. Jeff Sisco, Kris Schrock, Jeff Lipper and Dave Pflum listen.

2. Larry Johnston chews this way to a victor during the Marshmallow race.

3. Brad Schulte and Linda Patterson race toward the finish line in the obstacle course.

Homecoming '79 proved to be just as exciting as previous years. The seniors showed the most spirit by outscoring the other three classes in the Homecoming events. When asked what their victory could be contributed to, Kathy Poggemiller replied, "Our superior knowledge, our outstanding ability, and our over-all teamwork." Among other events the seniors won, was the slave auction by purchasing such "slaves" as Raymond Rowe, Bryon Hobbs, and Brian Nichols. It was the 4th year in a row the senior class had won this event. To this, Sandy Brockway commented, "We are not a cheap class."

On the coldest and last day, everyone traipsed over to the football field for the obstacle course. As for Brad Coates and Sally Lundeen the object turned out not to get the lowest time, but to avoid Lori Bloyd's pie-in-the-face. In contrast to this day was the tug-o-war battled out on a hot muggy day where the juniors defeated the sophomores. The bat race also added excitement.

However, the true-blue Bulldog backers got even bluer as they marched around town on one of the coldest days in October. Sometimes the crowds got involved whether they wanted or not. For example, Miles Erickson, after winning the egg toss event, tested the rest of the junior class's ability to catch an egg by firing it into the crowded bleachers.

Williamson Crowned Queen

Gia Williamson was crowned Homecoming queen at half time of the football game. Other queen candidates included Linda Siegle, Beth Reighard, Jacinta McLaughlin, and Sandy Brockway. David Krieger was voted Mr. Touchdown as he led the Bulldogs to a Homecoming victory over previously undefeated Highland.

Two hotbox dancers, Kathy Howell and Catherine Miller, make eyes at a crap shooter, Don Roelfs.

Bill Kelly decides the day has finally come to marry Cindy Kenny, his fiancee for fourteen years.

New York City in the late 1940's was the setting for the musical, Guys and Dolls. The story shows the powers of love that bind a Salvation Army Director and an almost hopeless financee of fourteen years in the heart of Broadway.

Pam Hyndman portrayed Sargent Sarah Brown, a young but headstrong leader of a Salvation Army Band. The part of the famous gambler Sky Masterson, who eventually became Sarah's husband, was doublecast with David Krieger and Brian Miller sharing the role. Nathan Detroit, the always unlucky crap shooter, and his fiancee of fourteen years, Miss Adelaide, were played by Bill Kelly and Cindy Kenny.

The best remembered scenes of the play were when Cindy Kenny's dress came undone during the curtain call, when the newsstand shade flew off, when Jeanna Tabott fell off stage, and the fight between Jacinta McLaughlin and Pam Hyndman.

Mrs. Massner commented, "All in all, I thought the musical turned out very well."

John Vantiger and Kent Klenk, part of the mission, listen intently to Nicely-Nicely, Dan Keitzer, giving a testimony.

Jr. Carnival '79

The Spook-House at the Junior Carnival had a little extra. The Spook-House was composed of cardboard boxes and sheets of hanging plastic that divided the Jr. High Music room into five sections.

In these five sections were bright lights, coffins with cadaver-like bodies, and madmen with chainsaws chasing the public. The jail wasn't the sturdiest confinement, composed of three cattle panels wired together. Tom Campbell, who worked in the jail, commented about the escapes through the holes in the back of the jail. Diana Orr was the person who visited the jail the most. Mr. Howell also found his way into the jail.

Some of the booths were the dime toss, football throw, the pool shot, golf, ping-pong, and many others.

There was also a dance D.J.'ed by Cartridge City.

Kim Crouch and Dana McLaughlin have fun putting shaving cream on balloons.

Heidi Wiegard is successfully put in the jail.

Vespers Continues To Add Links

A traditional Vespers was once again performed under the direction of William Luckenbill. The program began with a candle-light processional and opened with "Deck the Halls."

The theme of the 1979 Vespers was "Have an Old-Fashioned Christmas." The narration was done by the host, Matt Newton.

Pam Zippe read from the diary of young Elizabeth. The contents of Pam's reading was of her expectations of the coming Christmas. An old fashioned Christmas and the joys that go along with it were described in her diary. Matt and Pam were both separated from the choir and highlighted with lights.

The Du Decca Tones were featured singing "Why Can't Christmas Just Be Christmas?" and "Silent Night." Girls' Chorus sang, "Tell Me the Story of Jesus" and Mixed Chorus opend the program with "An Old Fashioned Christmas." "Halleluia Chorus" was an exceptional song. Done every year, the audience responded well by standing.

Matt Newton acts as host at Vespers. Pam Zippe reads the part of a little girl at Vespers.

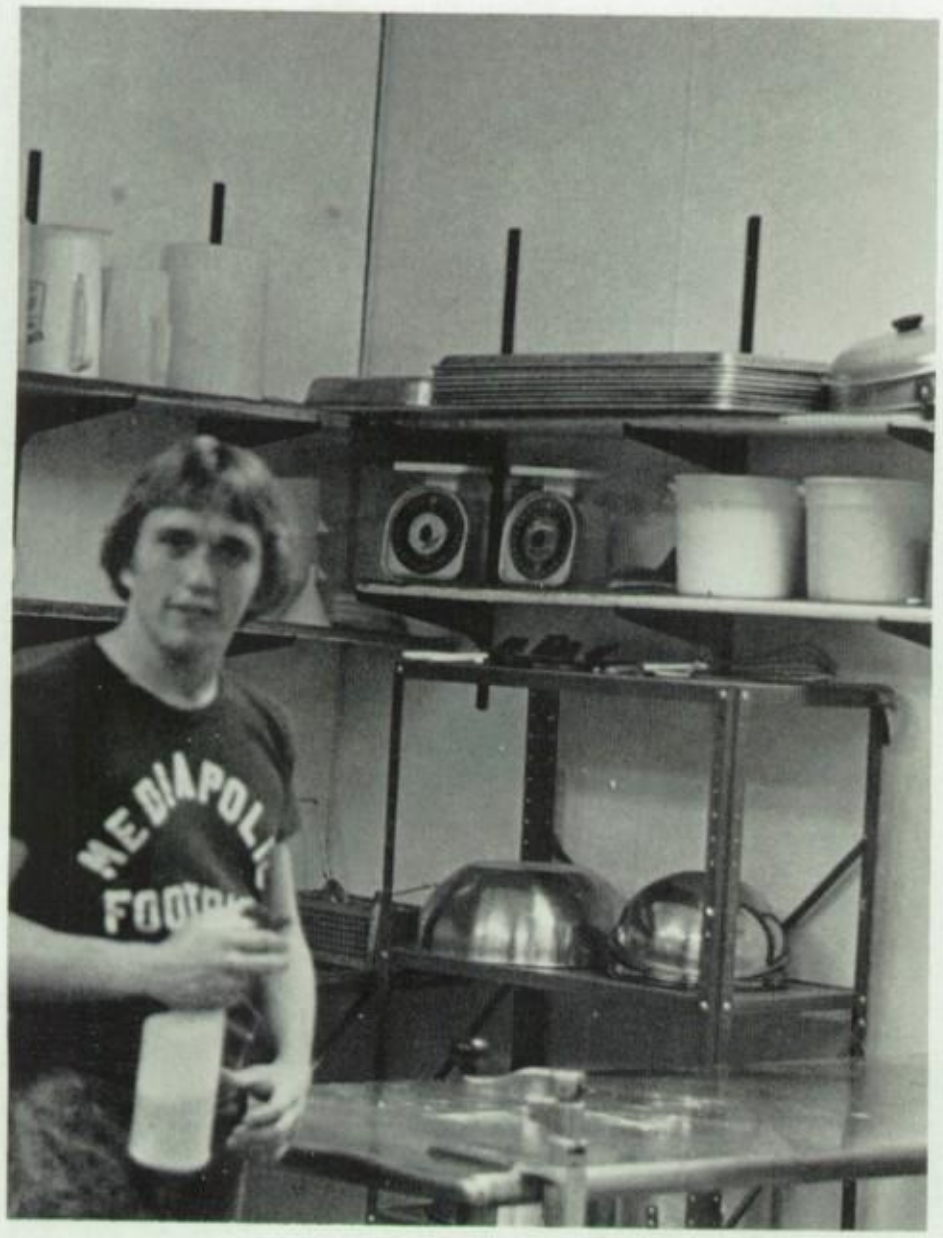
The Sno Ball candidates included Sandy Brockway, Beth Reighard, Jacinta McLaughlin, Linda Siegle, and Darla Wallman. King candidates included Wayne Kroll, Bill Hillyard, John Abel, Ray Warner, and David Honson.

By having the most votes, Jacinta became queen and Bill Hillyard became king.



After a busy day of making pizza at the Gus Stop, Ray Warner cleans up.

Career Tech Aids Students:

Getting graded on a job is just part of what Career Tech is all about. The students taking part in this course have to fill out weekly reports which are graded along with their classroom work, and worksheets. The employer also grades the student once every nine weeks according to Mr. Howell.

Students can meet the course requirements by having two years of Vocational classes. They may work either one or both semesters of their senior year. Before enrolling, students must have a conference with Mr. Howell, the Career Tech advisor. Most of the students make preparations in advance for a job, but if they can't locate one or need help, Mr. Howell helps.

"We have had excellent co-operation from the businesses," complimented Mr. Howell, "and have had very few problems."

This is not a new course at MHS. The co-op system had operated in Ag. for about ten years but has been available to others who meet the requirements for only six years.

Students start by spending the first three weeks in the classroom. After that, it's out to work for ten hours a week in the job area of the student's interest.

Working in the automotive department at K-Mart is Mark Wilson. Employed at the Mediapolis Care Center is Teresa Lampe, and Diana Rowe is employed by the Burlington Medical Center.

"I'm planning on farming after I graduate," was Kerry Kline's reason for taking Career Tech. He went on to say, "You learn a lot more working on the job than out of books. If everyone farmed by books, they'd go broke!"

Steve Nelson commented, "Career Tech is different from my other classes in the way that nobody is nagging at you." Kenny McLaughlin stated, "Career Tech has benefitted me by giving on-the-job experience; besides that, it doesn't waste my time just sitting in study hall."

As for encouraging others to take the course, Robert Fry explained, "It gives an exceptional opportunity to increase basic elementary understandings of the American free enterprise system."

Kerry Kline also explained, "It gives me more farming experience and also it gives me a chance to make my own decisions."

"The students do get paid for their work," Mr. Howell stated, "but the primary purpose for Career Tech is the job experience – not the income."

Mrs. Levi Spins The Net

The all-school play "The Matchmaker" takes place in the early 1880's in New York.

Mr. Vandergelder wants to marry Mrs. Malloy, the owner of a hat store. Mrs. Levi, the matchmaker, has different plans for Mr. Vandergelder. She plans on marrying him herself.

Mr. Vandergelder's niece, Ermengarde, wants to marry Ambrose Kemper, a painter. Her uncle does not approve. Barnaby and Cornelius, workers of Mr. Vandergelder's, want to explore New York. By chance they walk into Mrs. Malloy's hat store, and Cornelius falls in love with Mrs. Malloy.

In Miss Van Huysen's house everyone is present. Mr. Vandergelder and Mrs. Levi begin arguing. In the process Ambrose proposes to Ermengarde, Cornelius proposes to Mrs. Malloy, and Mrs. Levi finally gets Mr. Vandergelder to marry her.

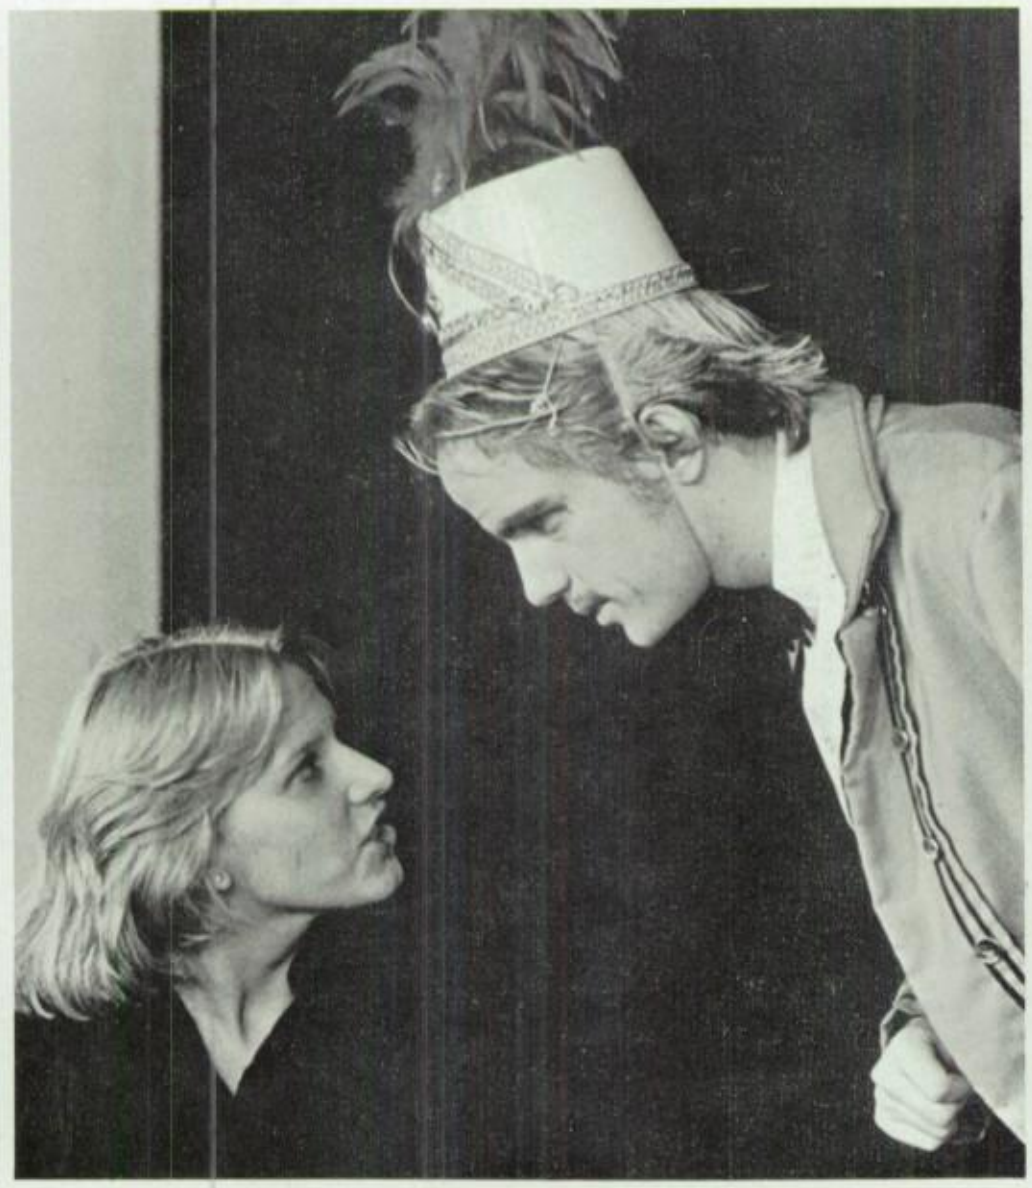
Julie Pilling and Susan Howell added a special touch to the play. They made pudding to look like ice cream. They mixed pudding mix with flour and water until it was thick and then froze it. Susan Howell commented, "It was supposed to be ice cream so we thought the flour would make it more thick!" When they served it, it was gooey. Kent Carter said, "I would have taken a bite, but there was a hair in it."

Judy Belknap wore a hat on stage that touched the ceiling. She was heard to say, "I'm not wearing that cemetery hat; it looks cheap!" She wore it anyway.

During one practice Jeanna Talbott fainted and Stan Ruth forgot to catch her. The same situation caused problems during dress rehearsal. Stan, holding Jeanna, lost his balance, and both landed on the floor.

Sue Umthun is gossiping while mixing a cake.

Judy Belknap tells Barb Pfadenhauer another story about Cornelius Hackel.



Bob Dowell asks Patti Reeb if Mrs. Levi has arrived yet.

The Closer I Get To You

Walking into the Regency Royal Room at Holiday Inn for the third year was more special than the other years since it would be my last prom. Memories flashed into my mind of the previous year and how much fun we had decorating and planning.

Wearing my new long dress, which I bought special for the prom, and a beautiful nosegay, I walked into the room for the last time. The first thing I noticed was the familiar way the tables were set up: the glasses, books, namecards, and nut cups, and the pretty centerpiece of flowers. I really liked the maroon and pink colors.

Thinking back, I remembered the pastel colors of the year before. When the band finally started playing, I realized they weren't any better than last year, but we danced and had a good time anyway. The best song all night was "Crazy Little Thing Called Love" by some of the high school guys, Curt Stoller, Brian Miller, Bryon Ruth, and Dan Keitzer. Being on Friday night was different, and I didn't have much time to get ready. The King and Queen idea was also different.

"The Closer I Get to You" was a nice theme, and Peggy Denny and Dan Keitzer singing the theme song was a good idea.

Jim Duncan's Climb

Jim Duncan is a man of many professions. In his lifetime he has served as superintendent, Associate Professor at the University of Alabama, worked as a freelance writer for Saturday Evening Post and Sports Illustrated, and has announced the Drake Relays and the Girls' State Basketball Tournaments.

Sitting back in his chair in a blue pin-striped suit, Mr. Duncan explained his position at Drake. "I announce and teach television directing and writing. I majored in philosophy at Drake, but that was a long time ago."

Jim Duncan became interested in announcing when he was very young. "My family was a family that used their voices. Five auctioneers came from my family. In fact, an uncle of mine was given the title as 'the world's greatest auctioneer'. He was a great inspiration for me."

Mr. Duncan did single out a favorite profession. "Announcing sporting events such as national track meets or the NCAA is something I enjoy doing." Mr. Duncan was a track man himself. He won the 440 in the conference as a junior in high school. Mr. Duncan described his announcing, "I think my announcing is somewhat dramatic. But I want people to know if a girl makes basketball Hall of Fame or somebody breaks a track record. I think an athlete that has practiced hard for many years should get all the possible recognition he or she can."

Top of the Mountain

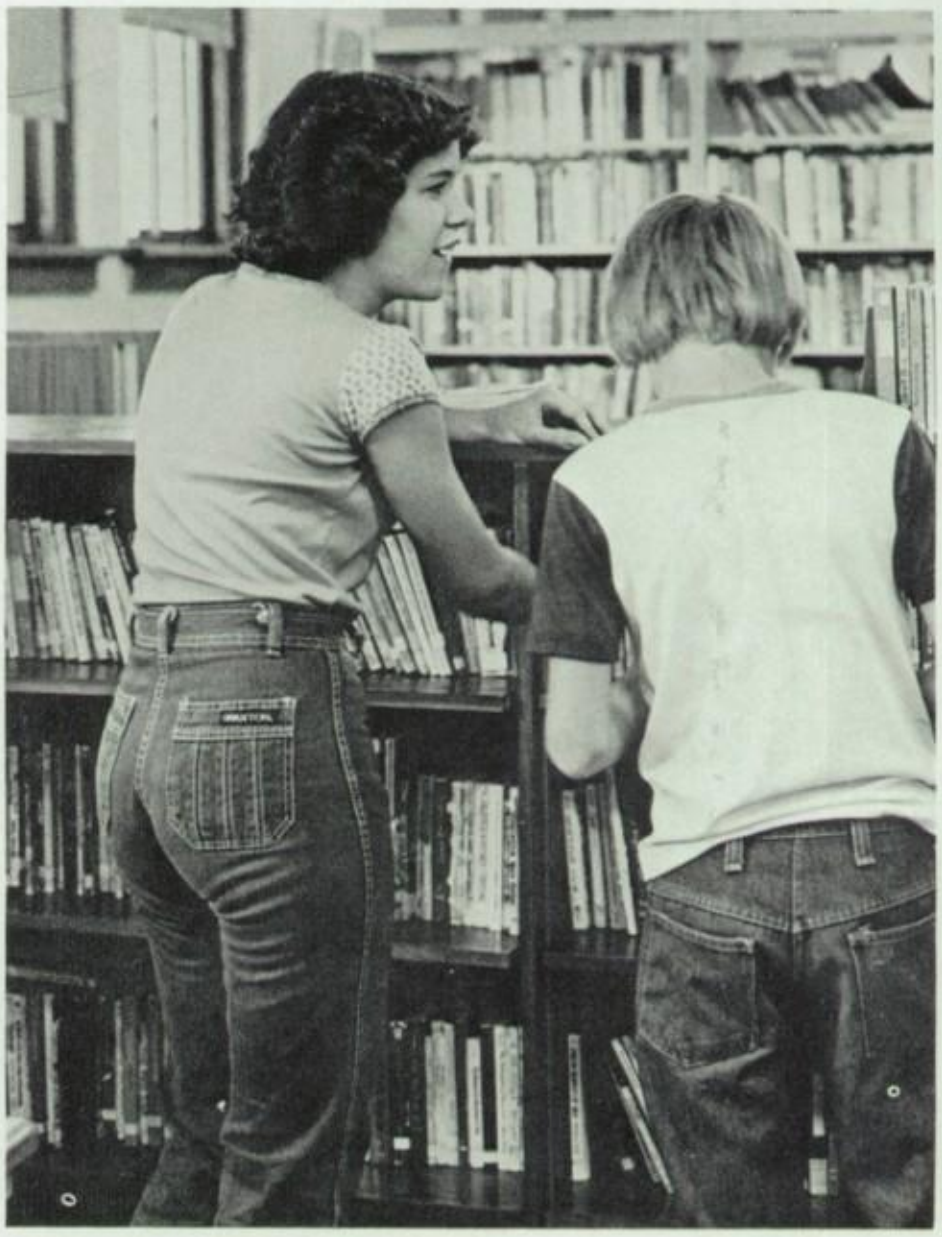
An inspirational speech was directed to the graduating senior class of 1980 by Mr. Jim Duncan on May 19 during the commencement exercises.

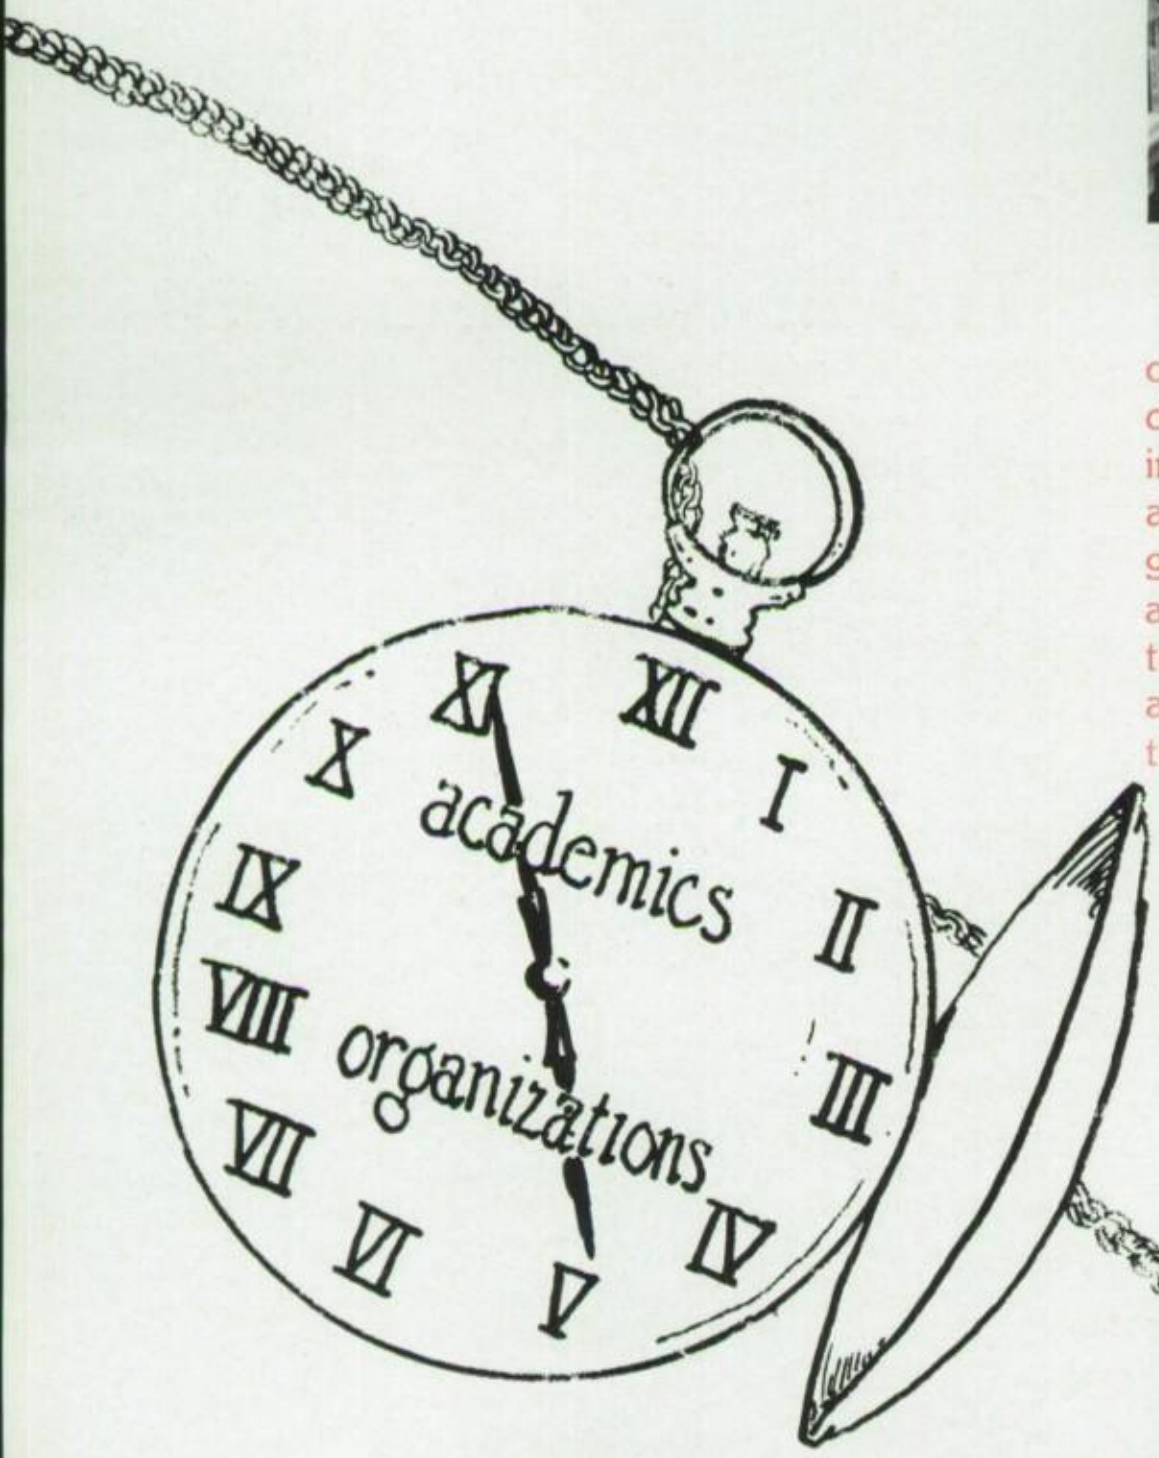
Mr. Duncan's speech was entitled "The Top of the Mountain." Illustrations of people who have achieved great things despite physical handicaps composed the body of Mr. Duncan's speech. Velma Rudolf, from Tennessee, won 3 gold medals in the 1960 Olympics. Miss Rudolf was 19 at the time and when she was a little girl had a paralized leg. Doctors predicted she would never walk without a limp.

Mr. Duncan stated, "The Top of the Mountain equals the top of achievement but life is advantageous even if you try to go up." To explain his statement Mr. Duncan told of a man who at age 65 had been a failure at many occupations. But this man had a recipe that he began to cook in numerous on-the-road restaurants. At age 73, this man sold his recipe for $600,000. This man was Colonel Sanders.

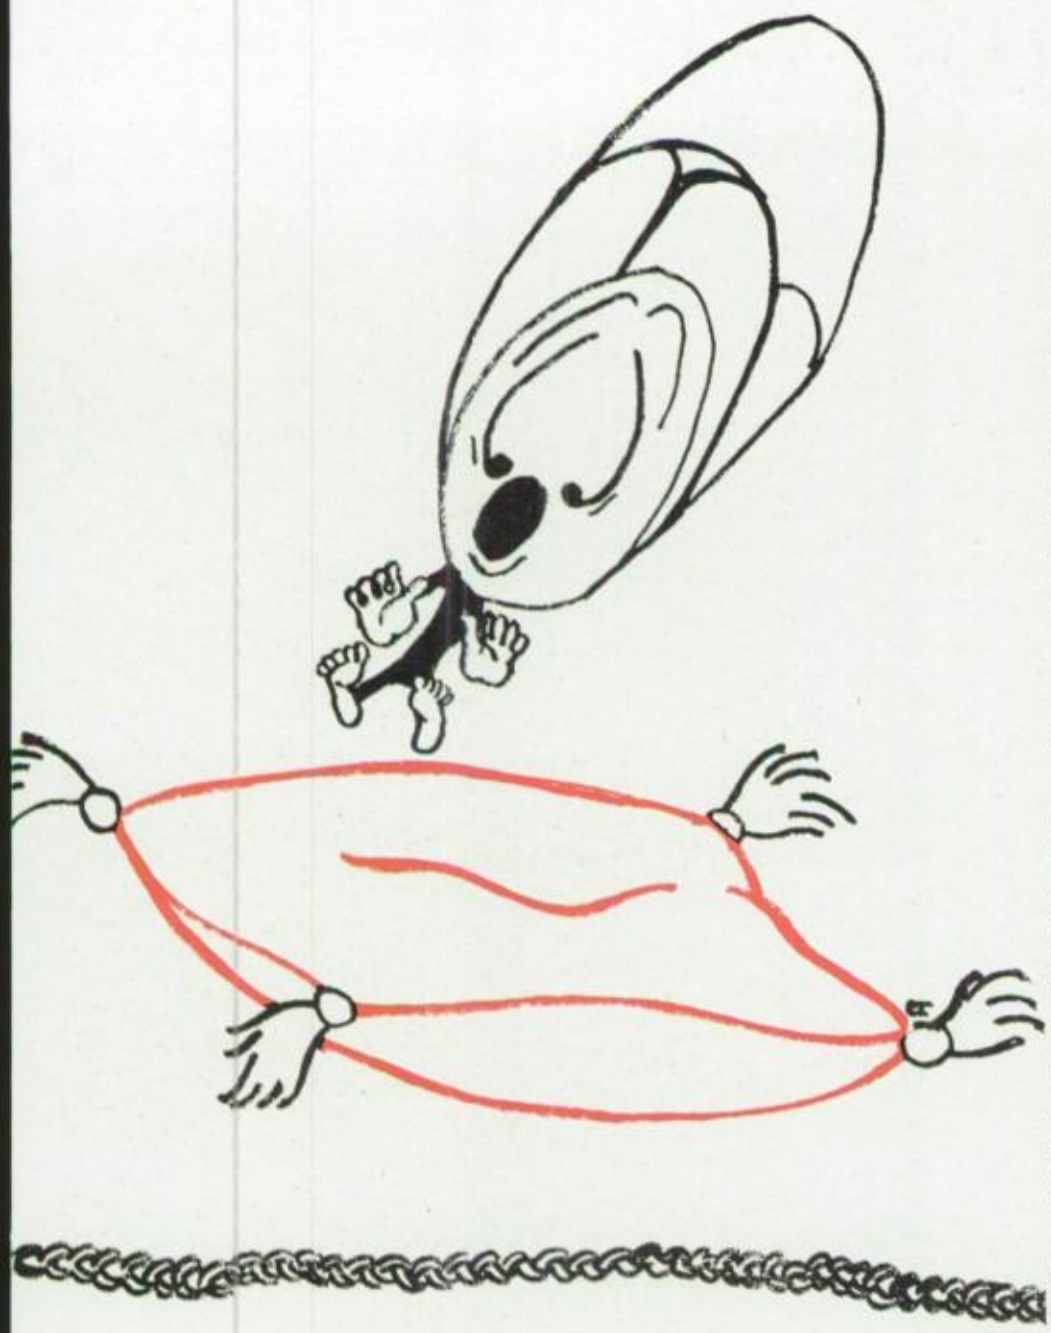
Mr. Duncan closed his speech by extending his hopes for the seniors to see the golden parrot, the turquoise lion with the golden mane and the monastery.

Oscar's Proud Parents -
Mr. and Mrs. Vicente Carrizo





As much as we hate to admit it, the academic link of our chain is the most important, even though it does not always receive the priority it deserves. This includes not only the time spent in class, but also the assignments, the homework, the reading . . . And to go along with our interests, a wide variety of clubs and organizations is offered. We get the opportunity to learn not only about the subject, but also to learn about ourselves, our abilities, and about others in the chain.



Thursday, May 15, was E-Day; the day the Physics class dropped their eggs. The location was the school garage roof, a drop of about 25 feet. It was windy and slightly raining, but 13 of the other 18 students had been successful as Matt prepared to drop his egg. Did it work? Well, no. He couldn't get it off the garage, as a few problems arose. He threw it over the edge . . . three times. And each time it blew right back onto the roof. It was termed as unsuccessful since it never made it down to the cement, but he received an "A" on it for a good, original idea. Matt said if he would have weighted it down and put a hole in the parachute to allow air through, it could have worked better.

Mr. Rosine was pleased with the results, and was quoted as saying, "Even with the adverse weather conditions, there was an extremely high number of successful drops."

Most students, Matt said, make their projects by wrapping the egg in something to absorb the shock of being dropped. The majority of these worked, but Mr. Rosine was reportedly seen picking those up and hurling them onto the cement until that awful, but all too familiar sound was heard, while muttering, "Nothing personal," to a slightly shaken observer that nearly got splattered with yolk. This reporter was unable to uncover the motive behind this, nor what kind of grade the victims of this horrible sabotage received, not to mention the poor people on the ground who were the unfortunate victims of Mr. Rosine's unprovoked wrath.

When asked who he thought had the best project, Matt replied, "Ken Hyndman's. He had a doll head hollowed out with the egg taped inside." His advice to future Physics students, "Don't build it like Bill Kelly's. He put a pillow on the ground then threw the egg at it. It didn't work."

Sandy Brockway marches confidently to "Cordoba."

The year started out right when the band marched in the State Fair Parade and captured the Governor's Cup. It was the first parade they had competed in since their South Dakota trip. Band director, Mr. William Luckenbill, summarized the trip, "South Dakota was an educational, rewarding trip. It was the most cooperative large group I've ever taken. Everyone was always on time. We never waited on a person. Everyone pitched in and did their part as far as the money was concerned. That's what makes the trip worthwhile."

Lori Luckenbill, a flag carrier, remarked, "The trip was a lot of fun, but I didn't like how we had to keep stopping during the parade."

After the State Fair Parade, the band participated in other parades, including Monmouth and the Pella Tulip Festival.

At contest in Keokuk, they received 17 I's, several II's and three III's, but no IV ratings. A big disappointment came when the brass choir was posted as a I instead of the II they actually received.

Mike Egan Stars at Coffee House

Talent, many people, and a little courage were all brought together on the night of April 12 for Coffee House. The show was presented by the high school students and organized by Dan Keitzer, Sue Umthun, Randy Siefken, Peggy Denny, and Dave Krieger.

Musical groups, skits, and much more were included. Ruth Beyerhelm and David Krieger were the emcees and special alumni guest singer was Mike Egan.

Susan Howell commented, "I thought it was pretty good and I was surprised it went so well after watching rehearsal."

"I thought it went real well even though I didn't get to see some of it," stated Kenton Klenk.

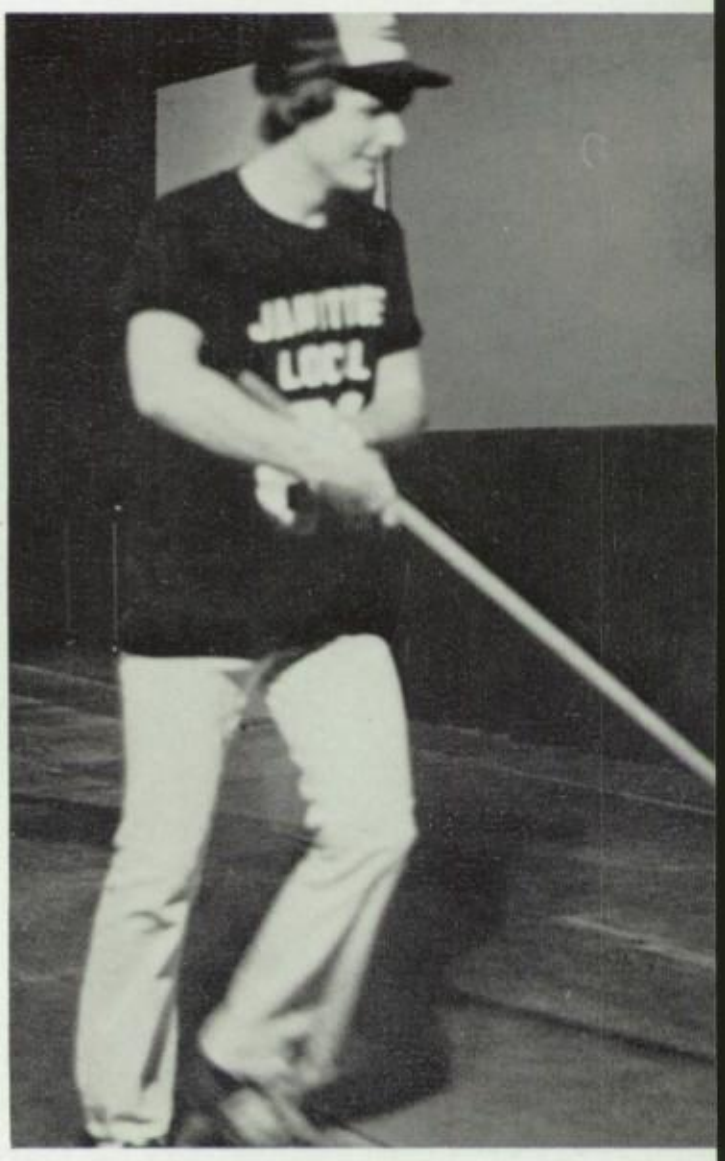
All proceeds went to the Du Decca Tones' trip to Silver Dollar City.

Sharon Piper, Shirley Wehage, Becky Umthun, Julie Pilling, and Kelli Burgus do the skit "My Boomerang Won't Come Back."

Jeff Sisco and Dave Krieger along with the other senior football boys do "The Cheerleaders."

The hit song "A Crazy Little Thing Called Love" was performed by Brian Miller, Bryon Ruth, Dan Keitzer, Dan Watson, and Curt Stoller.

A new group for the music department is the Rifle Squad. They do their routine to "Theme From Dallas."



Future janitor, Bill Kelly, sweeps his way to stardom.

The most active group in the chorus department was the Du-Decca-Tones. They sang at church services, church groups, civic groups, Coffee House, and school concerts. A new activity for the Du-Decca-Tones was a trip to Silver Dollar City for competition. The 24 member Du-Decca-Tones raised the money for the trip from Coffee House sales.

The other two chorus groups were Mixed and Girls' Choruses. Mixed Chorus had 92 students and Girls' had 57 girls. They sang in Vespers and the Spring Concert.

Swing Choir was organized at the beginning of April for anyone in either chorus. The group, with 66 students, performed at the Pop Concert, Baccalaureate, and Commencement.

New equipment included beige robes, a new piano, and a P.A. system.

Ten vocal groups went to state solo and ensemble contest at Keokuk. There were no Division I (superior) ratings. Those with Division II (excellent) ratings were Peggy Denny, solo, Boys' Quartet, Girls' Sextet A and B, Boys' Double Quartet, and a duet. Those who received Division III (good) ratings were Jill Ruschill, solo, two duets, and Madrigal.

Mr. Luckenbill commented, "The choruses have shown fine potential, and Swing Choir is developing into an excellent ensemble.

The student council kept very busy doing various activities, especially during Homecoming week. New activities that were done during Homecoming were the obstacle course and the string game. Tim Scheitlin said, "Many of the student council members attended the area election at Ft. Madison where for the first time we had a student council member run, Lori Bloyd."

The Morp Dance, which is the opposite of Prom, was a new activity, along with updating the honor point system. The student council also attended a seminar in Burlington where they listened to a speaker on leadership.

FS Dine, See Harvey

The Future Secretaries went to Davenport April 19-21. They stayed at Jumers Castle and some of the activities included shopping at North Park Mall, having dinner at the Drawbridge, and seeing Harvey performed at Circuit 21 Dinner Theater. They also toured Bandag in Muscatine and visited AIC, the American Institute of Commerce College.

To finance their trip they sold Tom Wat.

Office positions were held by Diana Rowe, President; Beth Reighard, Vice President; Gia Williamson, Recording Secretary; Linda Meeker, Corresponding Secretary; and Kathy Poggemiller, Treasurer. According to Mrs. Thie the positions are honorary. Also a "Miss Secretary" award was given to Gia Williamson.

Two famous couples were the Faculty Couple, Mrs. Delzell and Mr. McLatchie, and the Odd Couple, Judy Belknap and Brian Vose, who turned up missing when announced a member of the Odd Couple. Mrs. Delzell received roses; Mr. McLatchie a box of candy; Judy, plastic toy animals; and Brian a pair of binoculars to look up at Judy with.

O & B Edit Special Issues

The editors for the Orange and Black were Sharon Black, Teresa Piper, and Beth Reighard. Sharon and Beth described being an editor as "a lot of fun but a lot of work." Getting assignments turned in by the deadlines was the most common problem.

Four special issues were published by the Orange and Black. They were the Homecoming, Christmas, Valentine and Senior Spotlights. "The Christmas issue was probably our best," commented Editor Teresa Piper, "because it included a lot of stories that the students liked." Another well-liked issue, according to Sheila Tiemann, was the Valentine issue. Linda Siegle and Bobby MacNamee were voted as the Student Sweetheart Couple, Mrs. Delzell and Mr. McLatchie as Faculty Couple and Judy Belknap and Brian Vose as the Odd Couple. Flowers were sold for the first time to buy gifts for the couples.

Science Club Formed

For the first time in a number of years, there was a Science Club. Mr. Rosine, club advisor, said that there was more of an interest in a club this year. Students elected Randy Siefken as President and Ruth Beyerhelm as Vice-President. Randy joined because he "wanted to be like 'Mr. Science'."

The Science Fair was held the night of the All-School Play. There was an assortment of entries ranging from computer programs to a demonstration making gasohol.

There have been a few problems in accomplishing their goals. They discussed plans for taking a trip, but nothing was decided. Dan Keitzer said, "To improve the club, there should be more events."

Mr. Rosine said, "This is a trial year to see if the club will be continued."

Meyers Travels to Columbia

"School and being understood will be my biggest challenges," commented junior Brad Meyers. He will be traveling at his own expense to Colombia for two months on the Youth for Understanding program.

After seeing the ad in an article, Brad talked to Mr. Hickman who encouraged him. "Seeing how other people live, learning more Spanish, and a chance to be on my own," were his reasons for going. The exchange student from Chile, Rafael Diaz, helped Brad by "Correcting me when I was wrong. I've been reading pamphlets, encyclopedias, and El Camino."

Bill Kelly, Dawn Shaffer, Kathy Schulte, Priscilla Mehaffy, and Mr. Hickman are also excited about their trip to Mexico City this summer. Among the activities, they will see the pyramids, the Folklorico Ballet, and Six Flags in Texas.

The Spanish Club went to Grandview for a Mexican dinner, Bloomfield for the Language Festival, and had a spring party.

Jim Beauregard, who is in a class of five, stated, "A small class helps give more individualized attention." One day a week is spent on special classroom activities such as playing cards and scrabble in Spanish. "I am comfortable in the way I am teaching," said Mr. Hickman.

Students the first two years mainly read, write, speak, and listen, while advanced students read books such as El Zarco and Noche Oscura En Lima.

Under the direction of Ruth Beyerhelm and Linda Siegle, the yearbook staff first selected their theme and began looking for ideas. From there, they directed their energies toward remodeling the janitor's storage room into a darkroom. In the middle of the year final arrangements were made for the publication of the book with a different firm. Thus a new procedure was one of the main adjustments.

Anacomp, a computer parts company was stock selected by the Econ Club. "It went way down" according to Jeff Sisco, "but 'Lip Smacking Red Delicious Apples' compensated for the loss in stock."

Anacomp was suggested by broker Harry Baxter who said it should go up slowly and shouldn't fluxuate a lot. Unfortunately, he was wrong.

Apple sales were good with the Golden Apple Award helping out considerably.

After apple sales slowed, the club sold suckers. They used several sales gimmicks such as Visa-Versa Day, when girls bought boys suckers.

First semester officers were Pres., David Hamilton; V. Pres., John Abel; Statisticians, Jeff Sisco and Randy Siefken. Second semester officers were Pres., Jeff Sisco; V. Pres., Randy Siefken; Statisticians, David Hamilton and John Abel.

The class hopes to buy a new stoolfor Mr. Kerr with the profits from their sales.

Kathy Howell takes a moment from her busy speech schedule to reflect on a ball game.

Howell Awarded

Mediapolis has a very good speech record. But one area most people never hear about is the coaches. Mrs. Dotson, who shares the coaching job with Mrs. Massner, had 16 students participate in the State Speech competition. When asked how she prepared her students, Mrs. Dotson replied, "They had a desire to win, plus many practices to polish their speeches and smooth out minor details."

Judging is another major aspect in speech. Mrs. Dotson felt that the judging at the state level was poorer than in previous years. More low ratings and disqualifications were given because of inexperienced judges. Out of four students who participated in state speech for the first time, 2 received I's. Joni Marshall, one of the two, said, "I was really surprised, and if not for Mrs. Dotson keeping me practicing, I probably wouldn't have made it." Terri Bloyd, the other first year winner, added, "I was shocked, and very petrified." The outstanding performance award was given to Kathy Howell.

Mrs. Dotson stated, "I was a little disappointed that more didn't get I's but was very happy with all the students."

It has been tradition for the Thespians to go to the dinner play, Circa '21. They saw the play "Man From La Mancha." A bus was taken to Rock Island where everyone had reserved seats which were "the best in the house."

One member who helped prepare for the Parent-Member Banquet and guest speaker, Steve Koering, State FFA President, was Jeff Lipper.

FFA Begins New Era

The FFA sponsored a no-till yield contest for the first time. There were four top yielders: Jeff Defosse, a junior; Doug Cling, an alumni member; and two community farmers, John Wagnebach and Leonard Lane. They received awards at the Father-Member Banquet. No-till is one of the things that FFA tries to promote.

The FFA also sponsored the Masters Corn and Bean Yield Contest for the first time. The two winners were Jerry Miller with corn yielding 217.4 bu./acre, and Jim Witte with beans yielding 64.6 bu./acre.

At State Conventions, the Iowa Farmers Degree was given to four chapter members for the second consecutive year. The State Farmer's Degree is the second highest degree given in FFA. The four winners were Bill Hillyard, Chapter President; Jerry Wagenbach, Treasurer; Steve Nelson, Sentinel; and Danny Keitzer.

The Iowa State Fair is another activity some of the members enter. Seven members took swine and one took beef. These were the three top places in the swine show: Dean Vantiger, an alumni member; Bill Hillyard, and Randy Meeker, sophomore.

The FFA does service for the community too. One job was tearing fence out for the school to make the parking lot longer.

F.H.A. consisted of a chain of new ideas. The base of the chain was celebrating the teachers' birthdays. Every month the girls made a cake and the ladies were given a rose and the men a box of candy.

The first link on the chain was the pig roast. The F.F.A. boys were invited. Both groups helped in getting the food ready.

The next link was the best attendance record Mediapolis has had at the District Meeting. Joan McLaughlin was elected as District President. Dana, Joan's sister, was "very proud of her."

At Halloween six freshmen dressed up in costumes and went trick-or-treating at the Care Center. There was a small difference: they gave treats instead of receiving. This placed another link on the chain.

With people still in the mood of Halloween, a fourth link was placed.

Cookies and punch, which were made earlier by the girls, was served at the F.H.A. dance by Shirley Wehage and Susan Howell.

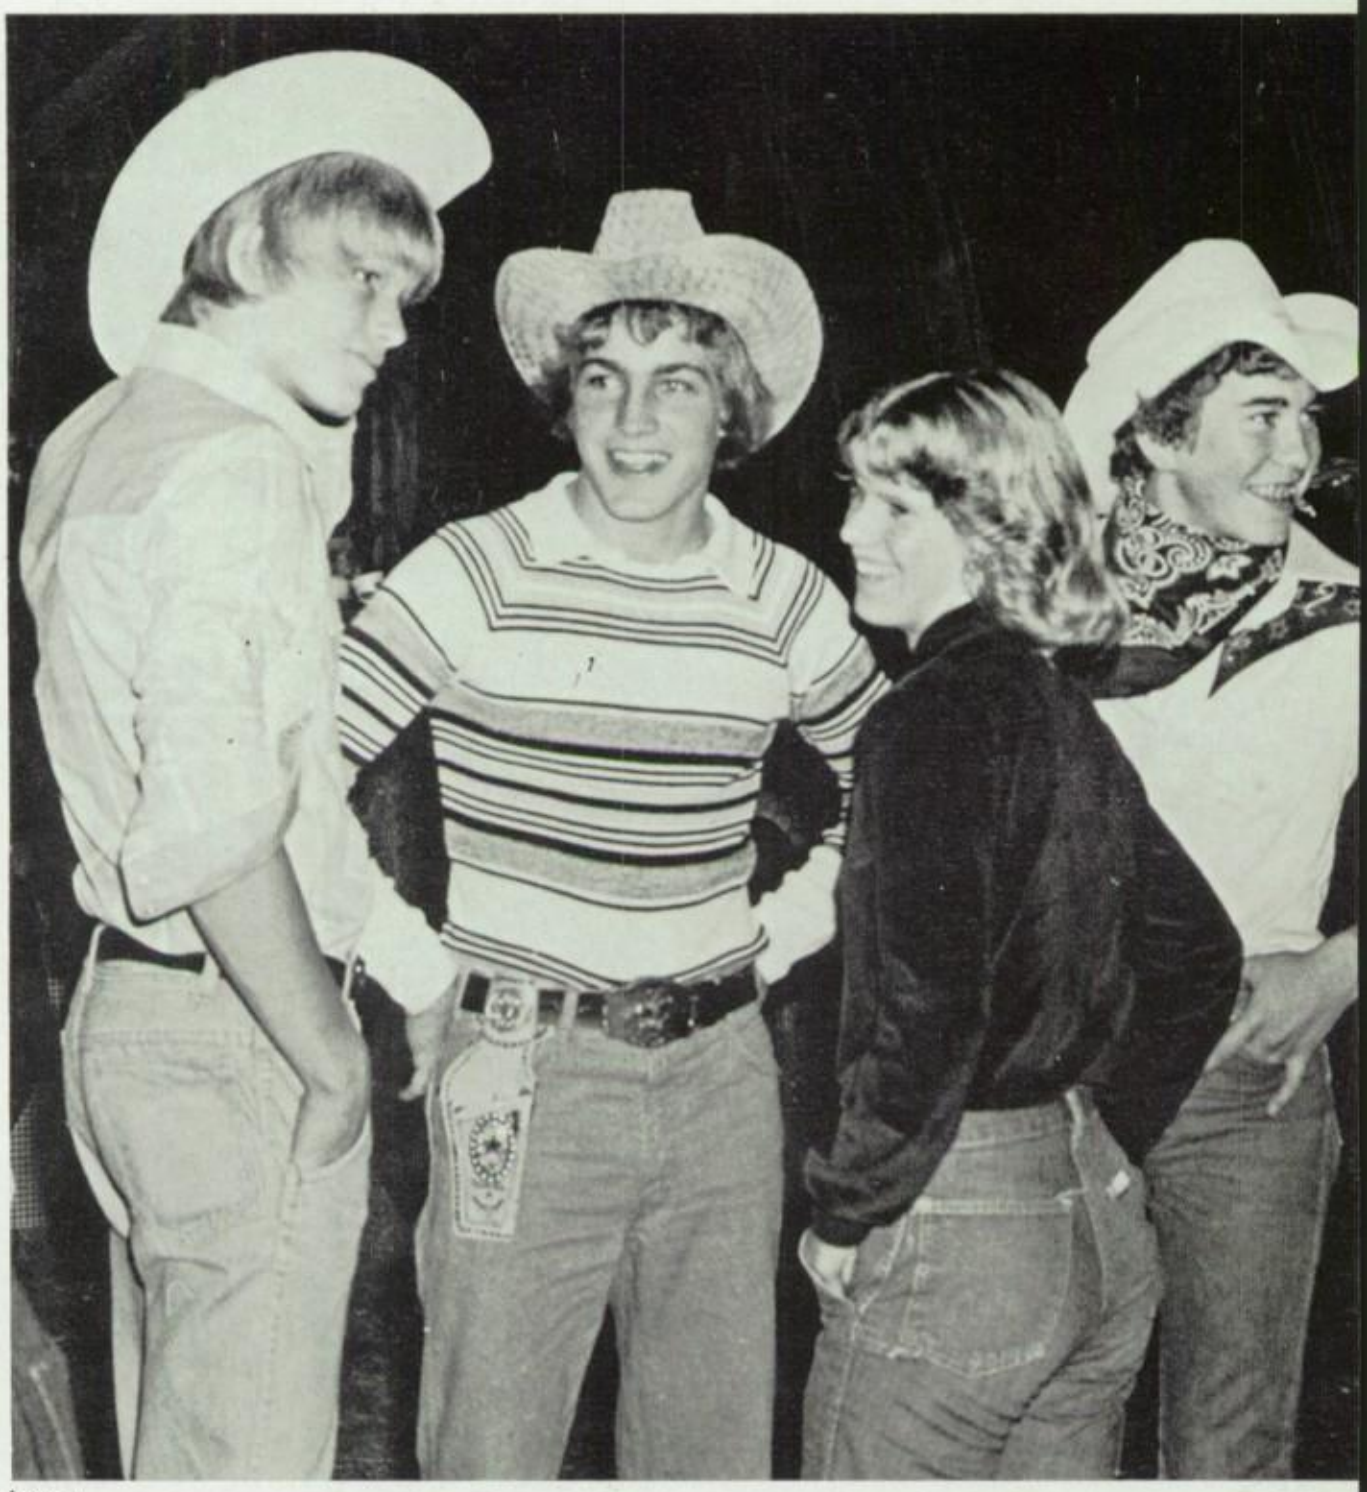
The pig used at the pig roast was donated by Bill Belknap.

F.H.A. invited the F.F.A. to a barn dance which took place in Kelly Cleland's barn. Kids came dressed in costumes to fit the hoe down. Barb Hassman remarked, "It was the best thing we did all year. The place and atmosphere was perfect!"

"A new way to get involved with F.H.A.," was the comment Dana McLaughlin gave for the fifth link, a Banana Split Party. At the beginning of the year, each girl was given a handout explaining facts about F.H.A. Then at the party, the girls answered a question from each "station." If they answered correctly, they won a part of the banana split.

The final link of the chain was F.H.A. Week. This had never been celebrated before. Starting out the week, (the Friday before), there was a dance. During this dance, people were surprised with a red or white carnation with a secret message on it. Teresa Piper commented, "It was a great idea!" During the week, brownies were sold, radio announcements were made, and two gift certificates to Happy Joes were given away.

Judy Belknap, the club's first state officer summed up, "We've tried a lot of new ideas and had great participation."



F.F.A. helped the F.H.A. clean out the barn for the barn dance.

A New Twist Flurries In P.E.

Taking deep breaths are L. Clover, J. Vantiger, and S. Schrader before starting on the adventure.

A new twist in physical education classes was cross-country skiing. The skiing program was only offered to the girls classes. The snow melted too quickly this winter so the boys never got a shot at this exciting sport. Mrs. Shomper said that this will be an annual event in the coming years if a supply of snow is available and a good quantity of skis can be obtained. The skis were rented from 7 Ponds Park, who first obtained them from Bickels in Burlington. There was no special insurance required and most students didn't think it was necessary due to the lack of danger. Teresa Piper and Patty Rupe stated that "The best part was going down the hill behind the school." The hill referred to is the slope at the southwest corner of the school. Although this hill is no Chesnut Mountain, it did seem to offer some entertainment.

The cost of the skis was one dollar for all day. This meant that if students had a study hall later in the day and had already paid, they could ski for free.

The girls had a choice as to whether or not they wanted to ski. Mrs. Shomper would get volunteers from study hall if any skis were still available.

Of all the people who skied, the hardest part of their skiing adventure was trying to get back up once they'd fallen down. Because everyone had such a good time skiing, the skiing program will be returning.

Campaigns Bind The 80's

The Iowa Caucuses were represented by several students. Colin Gerst represented the Democrats in Franklin Township. To represent the caucuses was, as Colin put it, ". . . my duty." Heidi Wigard went to see what a caucus was like since she is voting this year.

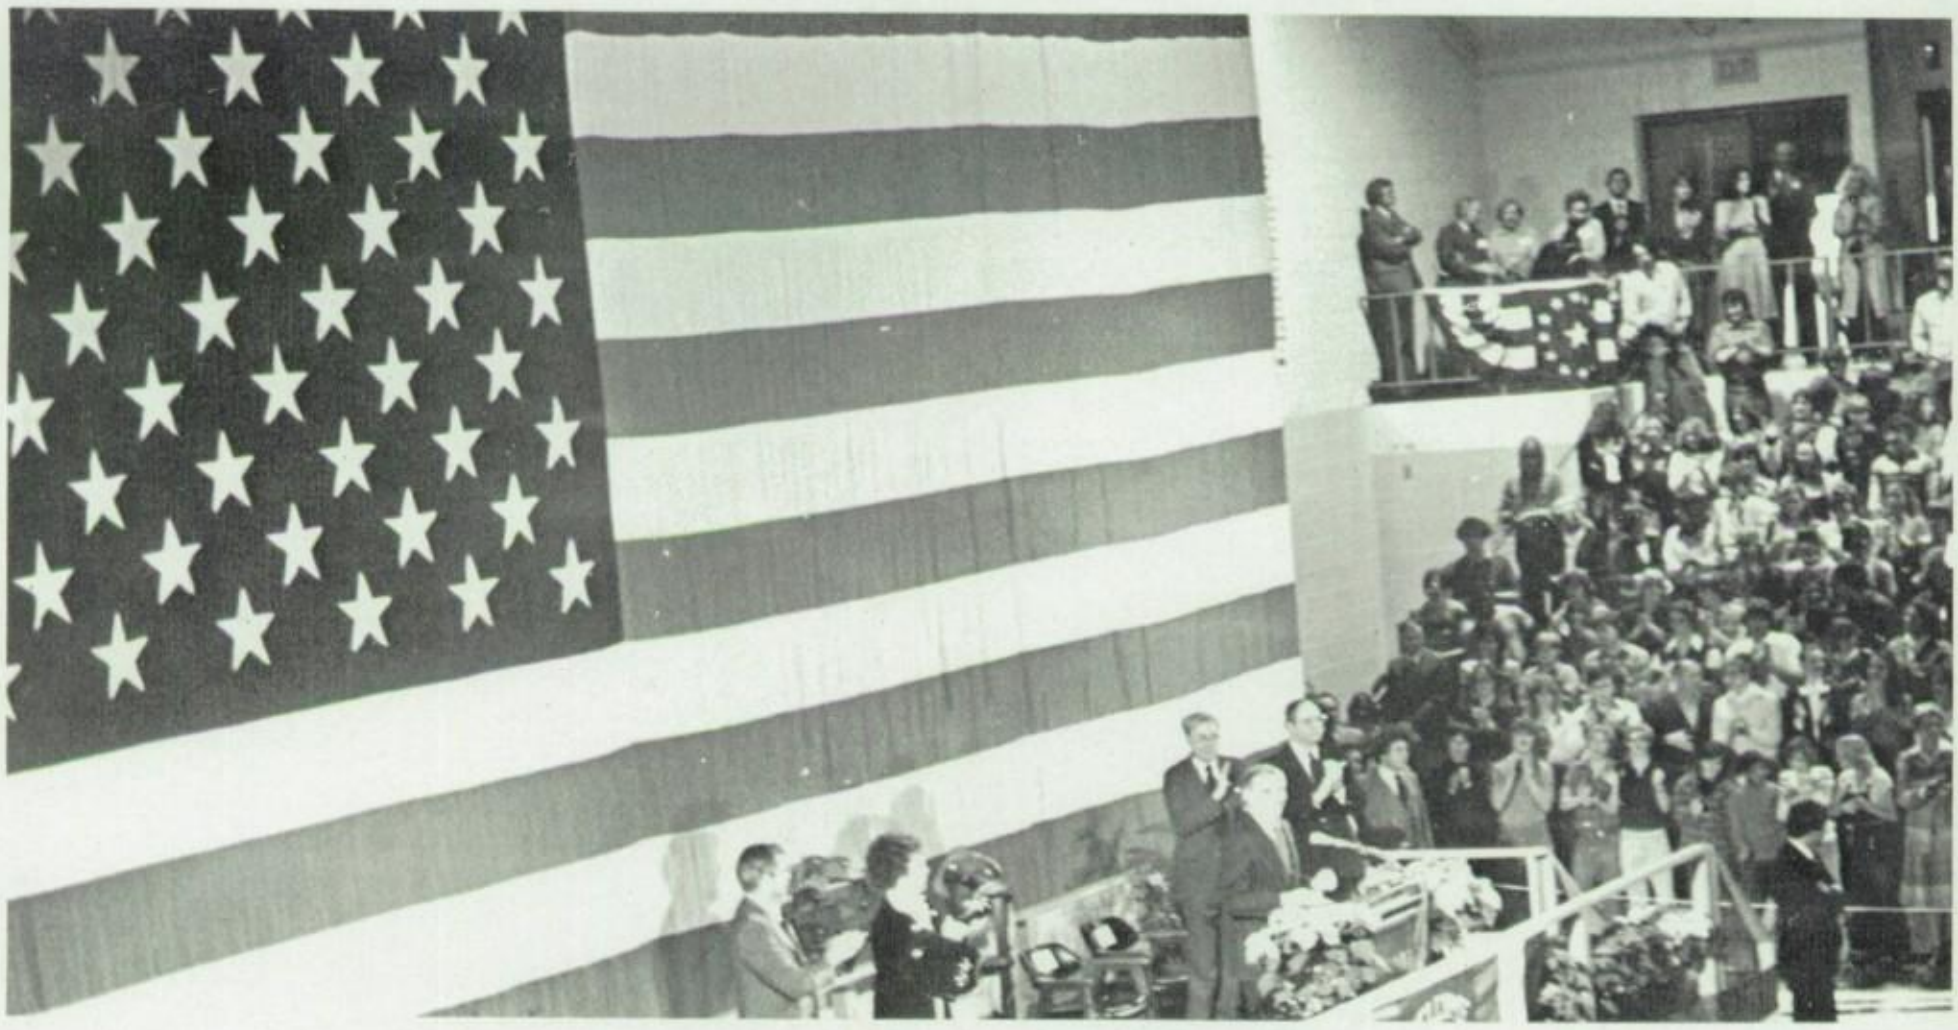
Kevin Thie and Jane Hill went because of extra credit points offered in their social studies classes. They said issues discussed ranged from farming and longer trucks on Iowa highways to abortion and ERA.

Bob Dowell commented, "I feel it is every American's obligation to take part in some form of politics."

Bob went to the county convention in June.

Other students who went were Bill Kelly, Dan Keitzer, Randy Siefken, Chris Johnson, and Rhonda Goughnour.

1. Waiting for the Delta Queen to arrive with President Jimmy Carter in tow, Renee Clark, sophomore, strains to see above crowd.



2. A warm reception met Vice-President Mondale at Burlington. The Senior and Junior classes went to see him. The Vice-President set a relaxing mood as he told jokes about the other candidates.

After arriving in Burlington by steamboat, President Jimmy, Rosalyn and daughter Amy Carter then attended a town meeting in Crapo Park.

All along the Mississippi River, people lined the banks and the streets of Burlington to see the President.

Mr. Kelly	3
Jeff Sisco	2
Don Rickles	1
Richard Pryor	1
Mickey Rooney	1
Sally Lundeen	1
Nixon	1

Most teachers felt that Anderson should get their vote, but students from ninth to eleventh favored Carter. Twelfth grade students had their own ideas. They decided Bush was their candidate. It was a good election except for poor Dole who received nothing.

America's Strong Link: THE FAMILY

"Everyone should take Family Living because it is a good learning experience," commented Cindy Sayre. Kathy Poggemiller agreed, "I have learned a lot and think it should be very helpful in the future."

Greg Wischmeirer stated, "I like the class because it is told like it is." Mrs. Carruthers added that the number of boys has leveled off. She was very pleased with the good discussions. She stated that the students were very open in the classroom.

A representative from SIDS, Sudden Infant Death Syndrome, was a new speaker in Family Living. She talked about babies up to one year old that die for no apparent reason. Other speakers represented Birthright, Planned Parenthood and La Leche League.

Another special event was when the infants David McLatchie, Tara Egemo, and LeeAnn Shelman received baths as part of the child care unit. Todd Massner, senior, demonstrated the football hold while LeeAnn protested. She continued to cry even though Jeff Lipper did his well-known cricket cry and tapped on the table. He was then joined by Mike Butler. Finally, Diane Nelson, her Aunt, calmed her down.

Top: The techniques of child bathing were explained by Deb Shelman to Mike Butler, Jeff Lipper, Sue Umthun, Todd Massner, Diane Nelson and Mrs. Carruthers.

Get Into The Action

"Get involved!" That's what Julie Kramer said to the Thespians and drama classes who watched. Miss Kramer came in March to speak and demonstrate mime and stage fights. She was in the Arts Out Reach Program from the University of Iowa.

Miss Kramer introduced them to all kinds of stage falls, stage slaps, and other forms of combat. She also showed them some easy steps for beginners' pantomime.

Simple beginners movement for pantomime of a marionette were tried by John Abel and Dana McLaughlin.

Class Performs Golden Grotto

Advanced Dramatics was offered for the first time because of more interest in advanced experience in projects, in play production, scenery, and costuming.

Field trips were taken to Hanchaur Auditorium in Iowa City to "The Taming of the Shrew" and Circuit 21, Rock Island, to "Christmas Carol."

Mrs. Massner said, "The class will be offered again next year."

"I thought the class was a lot of fun," exclaimed Barb Pfadenhauer.

The class gave two performances of Children's Theatre. The Golden Grotto or Bracko, the Prince Frog by Cleve Haubold, is a classic legend and comedy for all ages. Through the spell of a bumbling magician, a happy frog is transformed into a shy prince with a head cold. Princess Blanda and her hapless trio of handmaidens manage to lose a golden ball in the Grotto. This infuriates her father, the comic, penny-pinching King Ludwig. It involves everyone in a riotous series of misadventures as they attempt to retrieve the ball, calm the King, and correct the wizard's increasingly confused conjuring.

Cindy Edmonds said, "I enjoyed doing the play for the grade school." Most of the Jr. High and grade school enjoyed the play and hoped there's one they can watch next year.

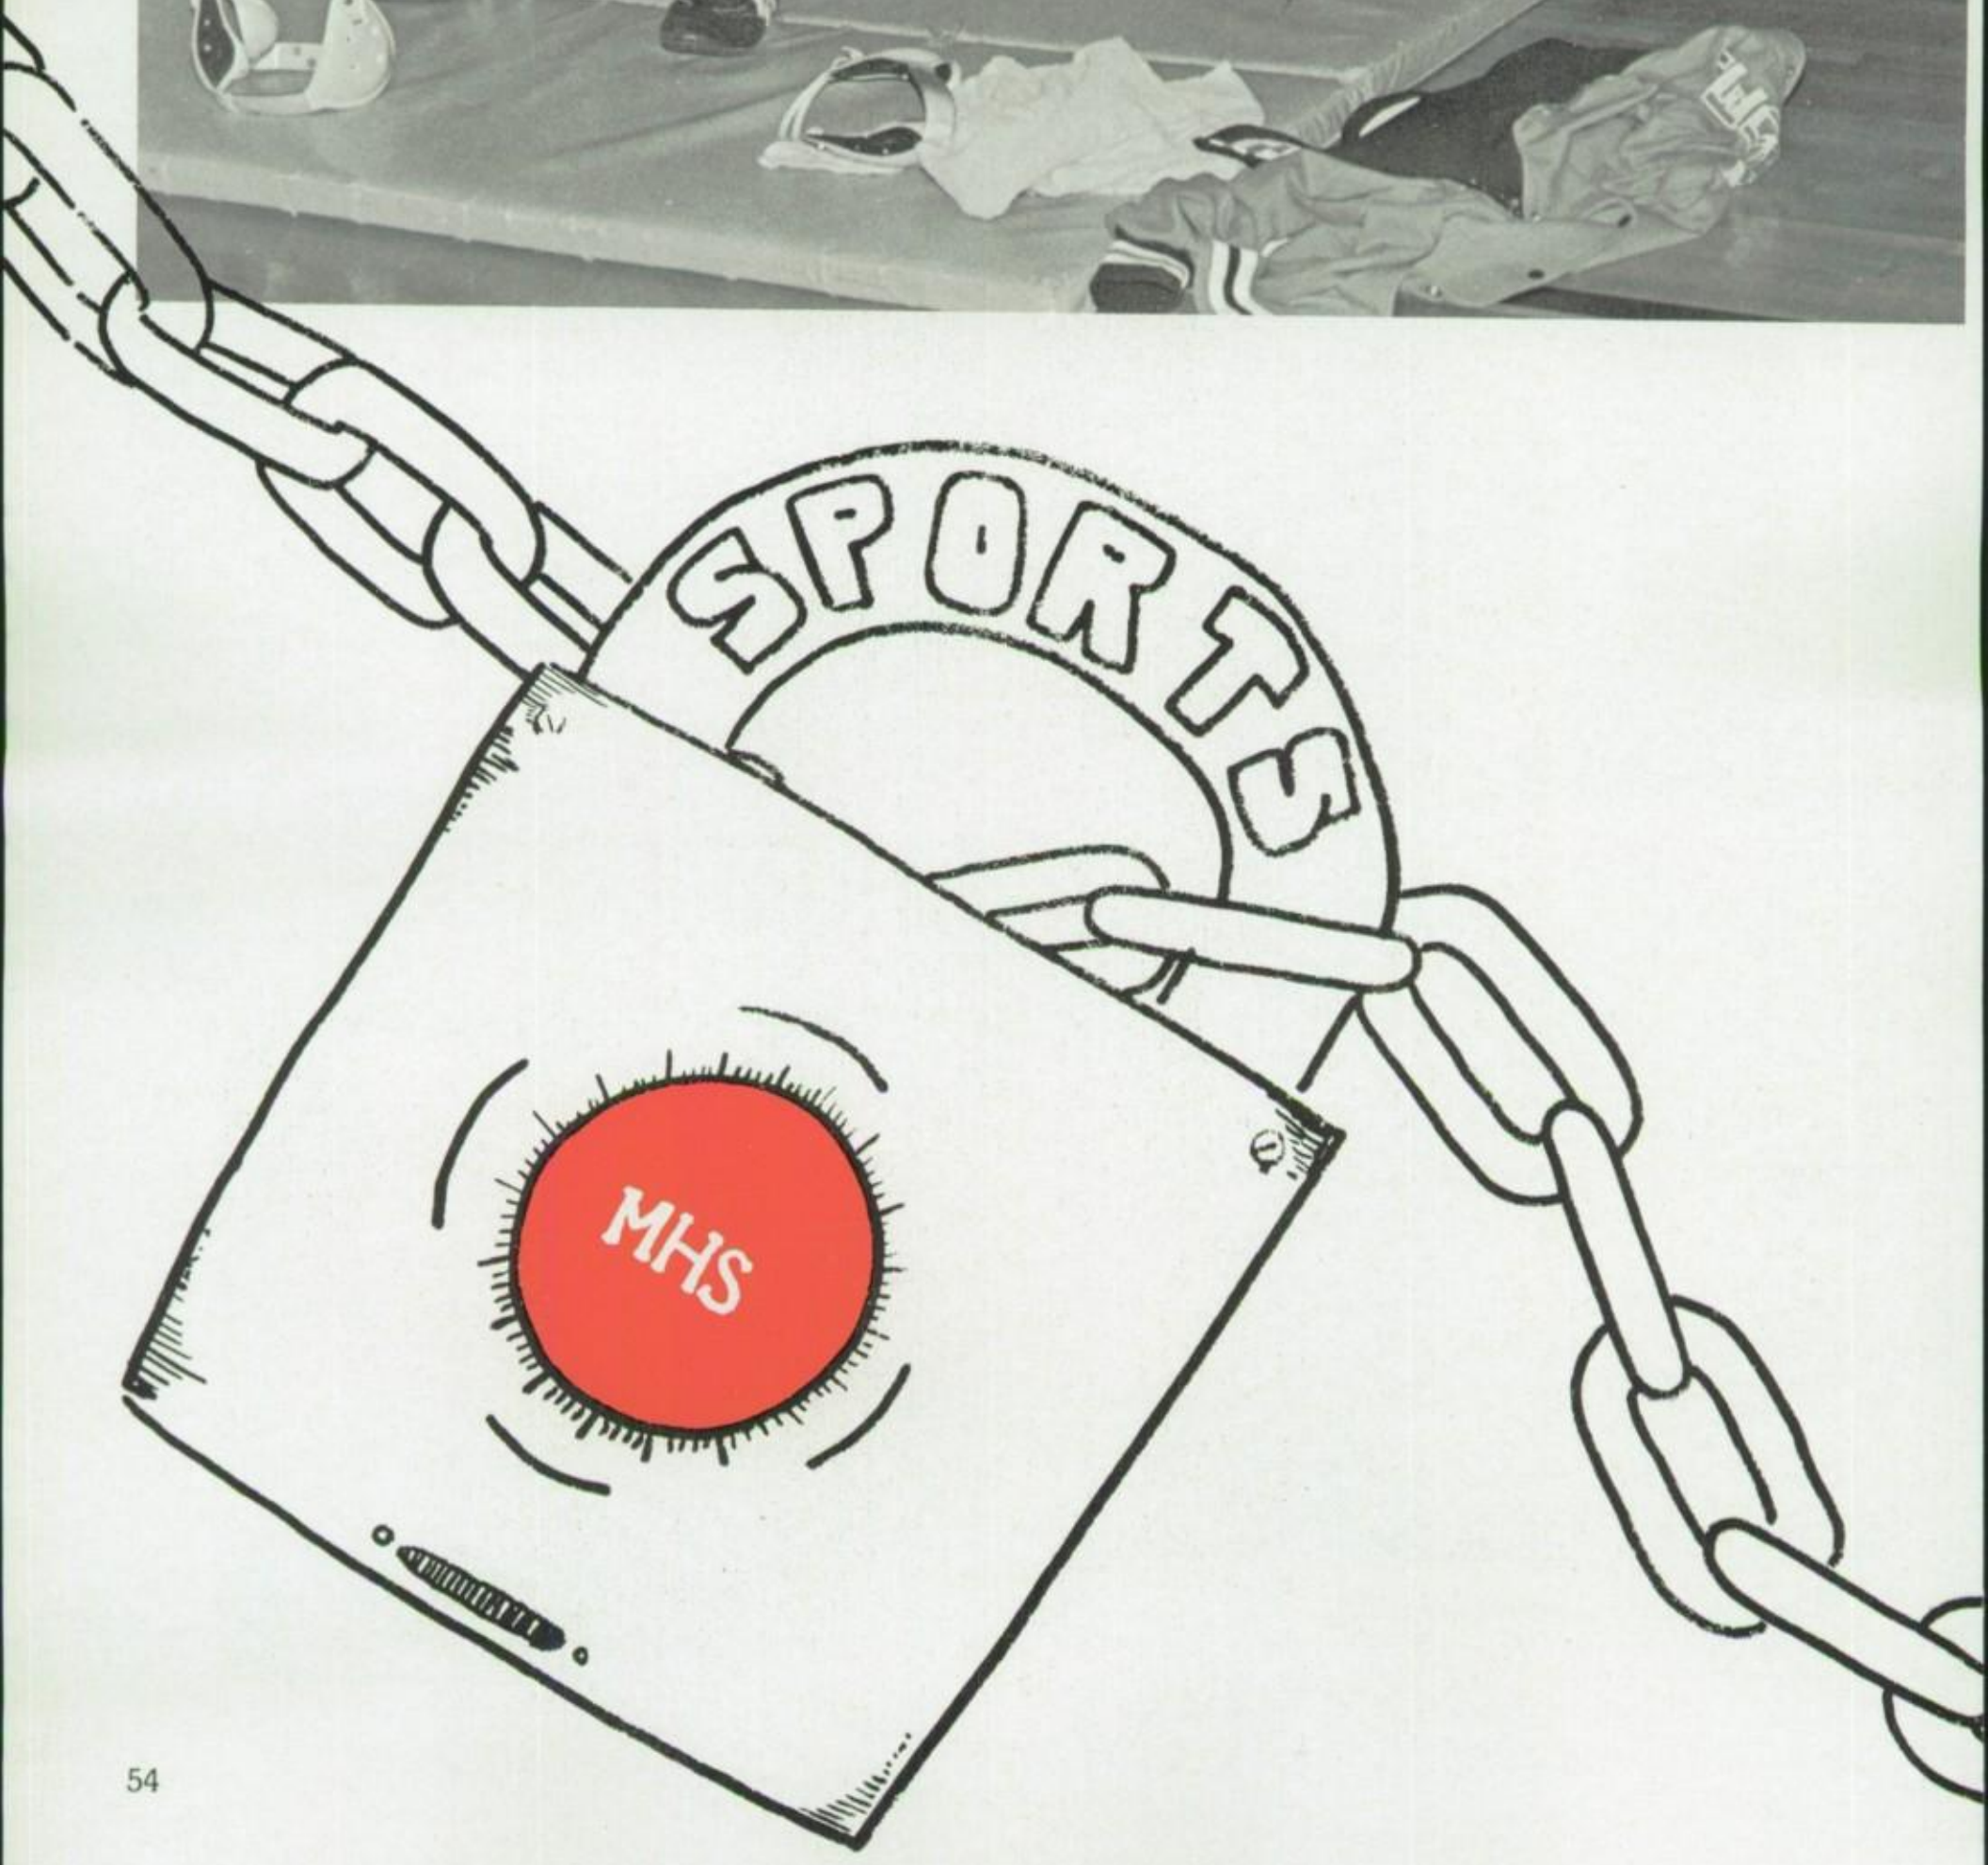
Messy hands are a small part of Art.

An Art Mural in the elementary music room was designed and painted by Curt Stoller and Jim Gerst during February and March.

The room "needed something . . . color" according to Mr. Luckenbill. Mary Housman commented that the mural has "Nice shapes." John Scully disagreed "You can't read it." The mural spells out MUSIC.

"It's different," Ramar Robertson commented. It's even different than Curt and Jim planned. They added ideas as they went, like painting the radiator. Jim noted that the mural reflects more of Curt's personality.

"The colors are neat," Christine Schnedler exclaimed. Sheila Ertz remarked, "It livened up the room." The colors used were extremely limited, according to Curt. It couldn't be too distracting. "It's better than a plain wall," Steve Heckenberg replied.



SPORTS
MHS

It seems as if the work never ends, as hours turn to days, and days turn to weeks, and weeks turn to months. . . Whether we are working mentally or physically, we are constantly learning, growing, and maturing. Sports are an important part of our lives. We sweat through endless workouts, lift weight after weight, strive for just one more jump, one more lap, one more throw . . . We accept our wins gracefully and our loses with a smile and hope for improvement. We are winners.

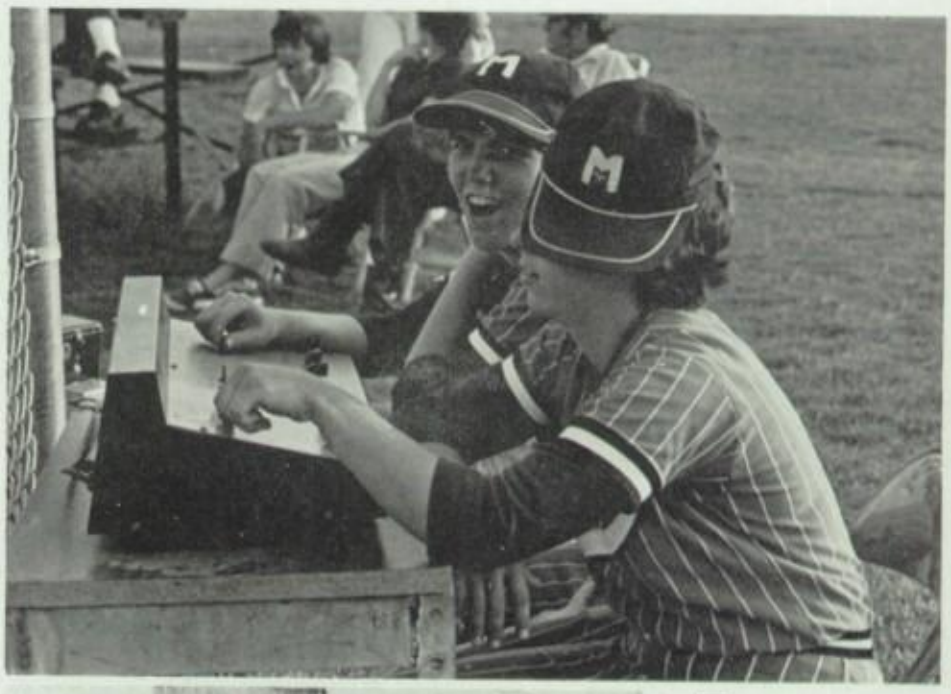
Below: During the New London sectional, Dana McLaughlin studies the 4 to 5 score, wondering how to save the game.



The girls' softball team attracted more attention than usual. They gained a new softball diamond, scoreboard, and new pitching machine.

Cheri Anliker (pictured above) from California, joined the team along with six other freshman. Cheri stated that practices were harder and longer than those in California but added that it was fun and worthwhile.

Elected by team members, captains were Patti Oberman and Linda Meeker. Linda had a good year and one good game in particular. While playing against Waco, Linda smashed a home run, hitting the ball 180 feet and over the fence. It brought in two runs and totaled Linda's RBI's to four that night. Waco lost 15-11 , and Mediapolis went to Sectionals. Helping the team make it to sectionals was Patti Oberman. The team's varsity pitcher did very well with a record of 14 and 8. Mary Darbyshire, sophomore, had the highest batting average of .500 and also helped the JV team with some fine pitching.

The first game of Sectionals, with Waco, was chalked up for the girls in a 4-3 victory. The second game, against New London, was also won by Mediapolis, 6-5. Although losing the Sectional championship by one point, Mediapolis went on to Districts. The girls challenged Notre Dame but lost 6-5.

Mrs. Shomper commented, "The girls did very well going all the way to District play, and I am very proud of them."

Bulldogs Win Conference

The 1979 Bulldog baseball team did a remarkable job this season winning the conference championship with a record of 13-2. They had several very challenging games along with many outstanding players. Chuck Schulte was the leading pitcher with an 8 and 2 record. Dave Krieger led offensively with his .342 batting average and exceptional fielding. Barry Runyon made some outstanding throws from left field to home plate, putting several people out in important games. Starting freshman Dennis Ertz did an exceptional job covering second base. Their classy performances during the season were set off by their sharp new uniforms. Six of Mediapolis' baseball team members made All-Conference Teams. Chuck Schulte, Doug Roelfs, and Barry Runyon made Iowa All-Conference First Team. Dave Krieger, Kory Klenk, and Mike Butler made the Second All-Conference Iowa Team.

Champion Cheerleaders Strive For Spirit

Jacinta McLaughlin was chosen for the Miss All-Star Award, which is given to the most outstanding cheerleader at summer camp.

For the second consecutive year, the varsity cheerleaders brought home a grand champion trophy from the ASCC camp which Mediapolis girls have attended for some time now.

The cheerleading squads could easily be described as hard working. They were busy all year making signs, having a teen dance, bake sales, and a kiddie clinic. This work payed off for the varsity and wrestling cheerleaders who were given a chance to cheer at State.

As usual, the crowds were large at games and meets, but according to Cindy Kenny, "School spirit continues to decline unless the game being played is tense."

When asked what the advantages of being a cheerleader were, Sheila Schrader stated "There is a satisfaction in being a part of a team." Kathy Poggemiller quipped, "I liked getting free pop and being able to see the game better than everyone else."

Although the cheerleaders feel they get little recognition out of cheerleading, some of the seniors graduating have plans for college tryouts.

Change in Defense Means Change in Season

The fans may not realize it but the '79 Bulldog football squad played two separate seasons. The first season consisted of losses to Wapello, 6-20 and Lone Tree, 7-22. Both losses were unexpected, causing worry and pressure on the coaching staff and players. But while many fans were doubthing, the Bulldogs were planning. Coach Tom Coates informed his squad that a new defense would face Danville. On the superstitious side new game socks and M's for the helmets were issued. With these preparations, the Bulldogs were ready for a fresh start.

The change in defense paired with a potent offense characterized by running and short passes gave the Bulldogs easy victories over Danville, Morning Sun, and New London. Then came a Homecoming victory over undefeated Highland, 34-0. "I was completely satisfied with our play," commend Coates.

"We did about everything right," agreed assistant coach, Dan Cummings. Eventually, conference champ, L&M defeated Mepo 24-14 the next week in what was termed "One of the hardest hitting games I've seen," by Coates. Victories over Winfield-Mt. Union and Columbus rounded out the '79 season. The Bulldogs overcame a 16-0 first quarter deficit against Columbus to win 32-22 and qualify for a three-way deadlock for second with a 6-3 record.

Senior tackle Bill Hillyard led the defense with 54 tackles while senior back Jeff Sisco led offensively with 648 yards.

Erickson's Chain Holds Tight

"State put the icing on the cake," admits Miles Erickson, the first Mepo grappler to win more than one round in state tournament.

Super-heavyweight, Rick Rhum, also made it by defeating three guys, but lost in the first round. Rick said, "State was scary, but I learned a lot."

"I had a lot of support from the cheerleaders and the team, especially Bill, Tom, and Todd," Miles added. "Mr. Cummings deserves a lot of credit for his encouragement and devotion toward wrestling."

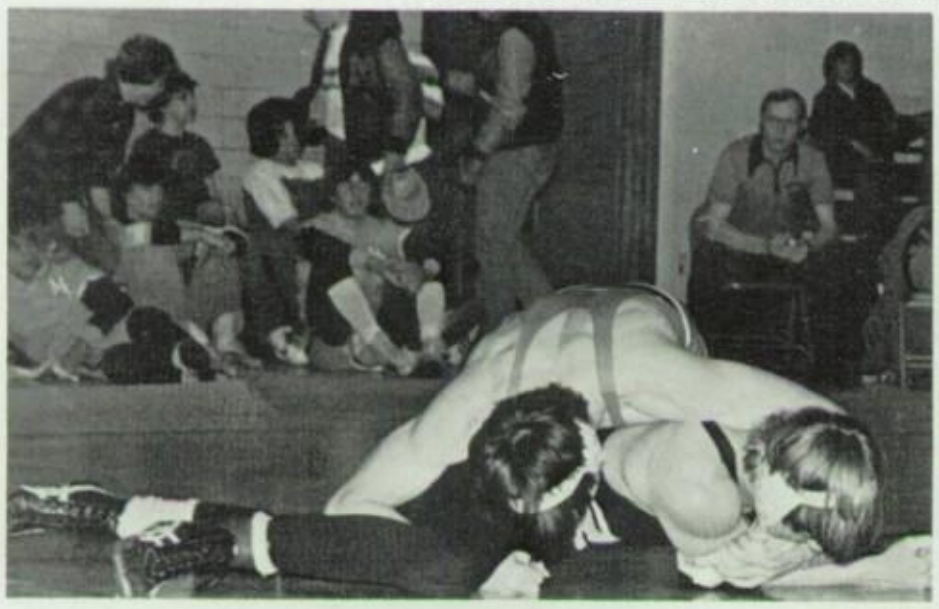
Tom Gerst summed up the trip, "It was a lot of fun to go support Miles because we knew he was a winner in our own minds."

"Bill Hillyard and Todd Massner deserved to be the co-captains. They were a good choice," commented Brian Vose. Rick said, "The captains always got spirits up when they were low." Wade Erickson stated, "They were good leaders and pushed all the time." On the other side, Todd said, "I think the team really co-operated and worked hard throughout the season."

Mr. Rohr, assistant coach, observed, "I liked watching the lightweights improve, and watching Miles and Todd just plain wrestle because they had control, determination, and ability that comes with dedication and hard work."

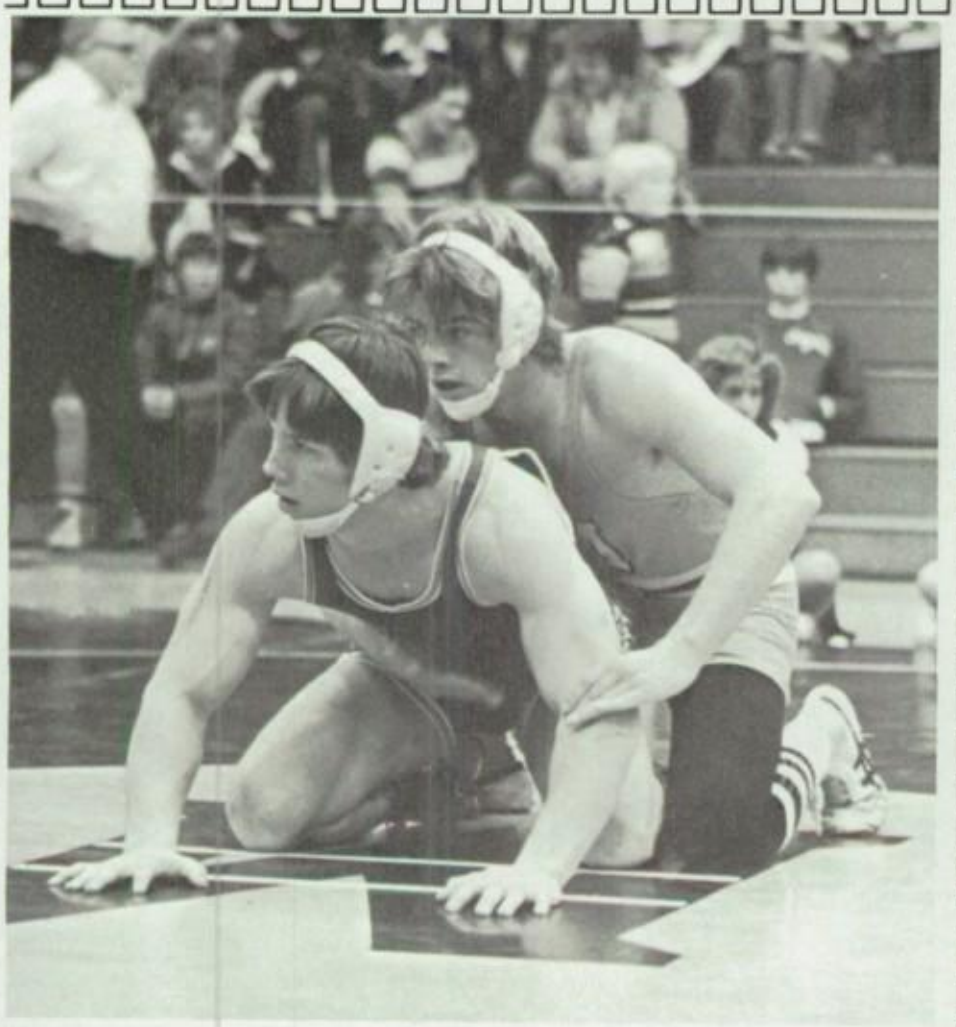
The poor dual meet record was due to "Lack of experience teamwise," according to Coach Cummings. Most thought they did well. John Abel and Brian Nichols thought that the lowerweights needed more experience.

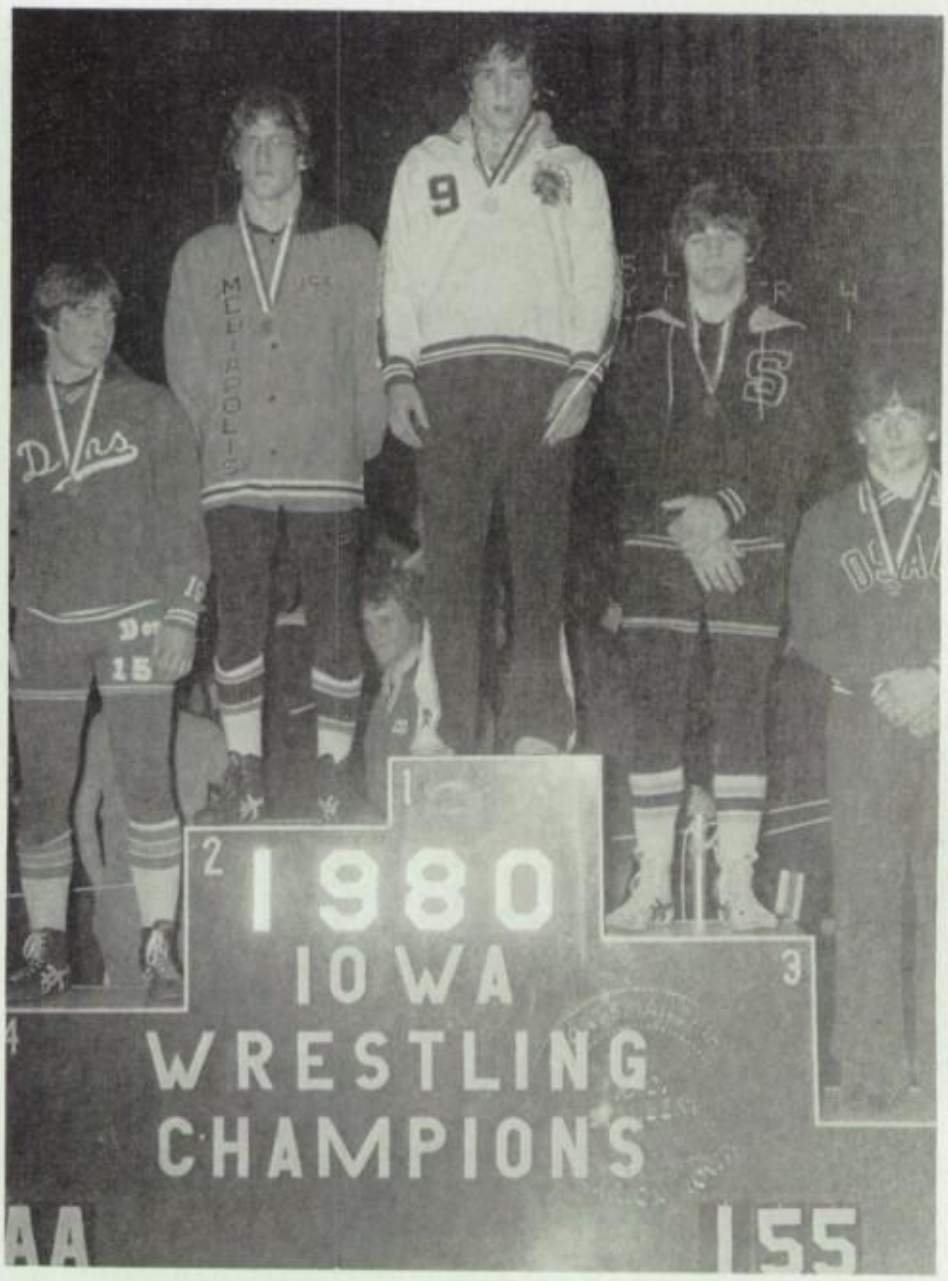
Mr. Cummings thought the team was unique. "They were real close. Everyone pulled for each other." Like a chain, the wrestlers are the links, and as long as they hold together, they'll be strong.

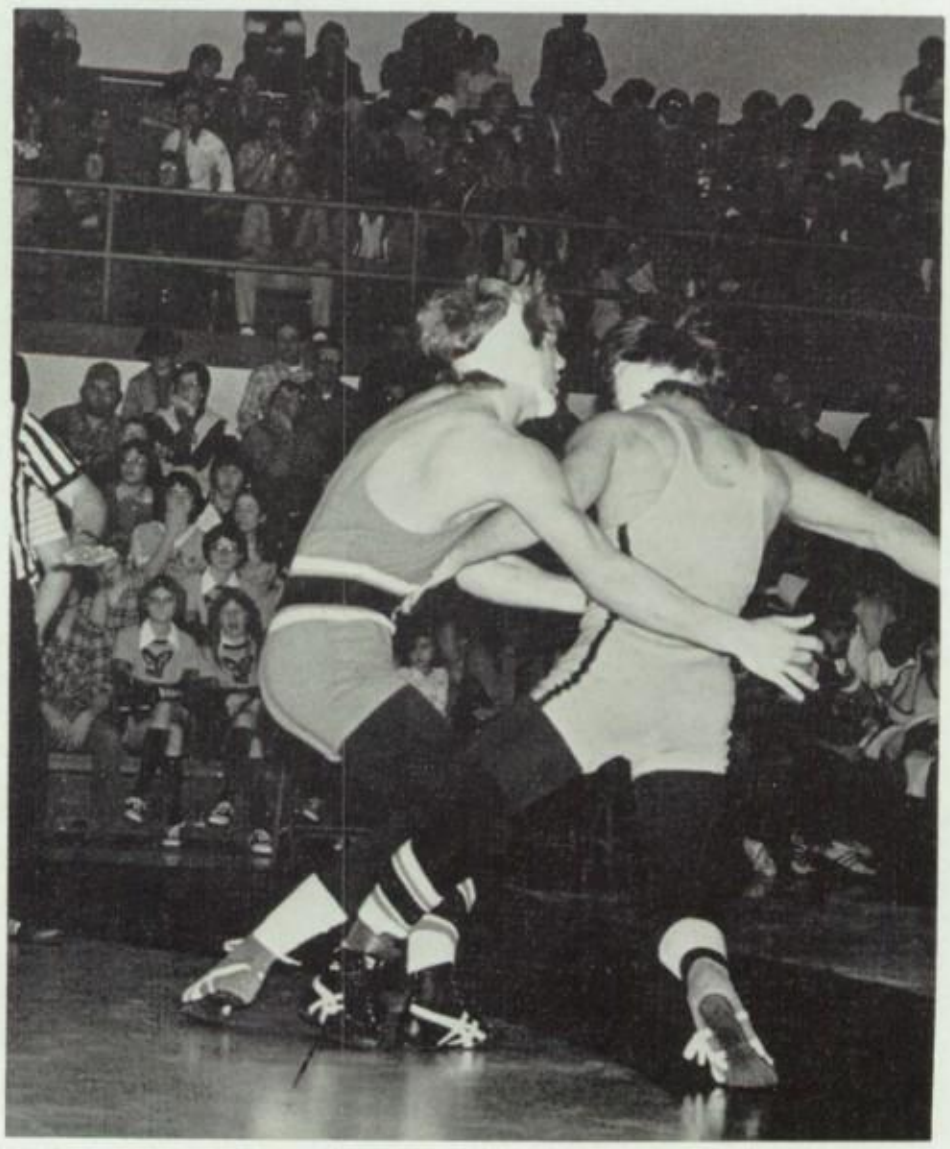


Brad Schulte, 145, wrestles opponent Todd Crist.

Mr. Cummings often entertains the team with stories. Rick Rhum listens on the way to sectional in Mt. Pleasant.







1. Playing close attention to the match are Miles Erickson, Troy Massner, Dan Schrock, Mr. Rohr, Mr. Cummings, and Tom P. Gerst.
2. Brian Nichols hoping to get a fast start, listens for the whistle against Morning Sun grappler, Greg Durbin.
3. Miles Erickson, 155, won 2nd place in the 1980 State Wrestling Tournament.
4. Cory Meyer of Mt. Pleasant tries to escape Miles Erickson by moving out of bounds during sectionals.

Returning to the State Tournament for the 17th time, the Bullettes faced Maple Valley in first round competition. Beating Maple Valley, the Bullettes went on to meet Norwalk. The Bullettes lost to Norwalk, 65-59.

Judy Belknap, senior guard, was chosen for the All-Tournament team.

When asked what the toughest conference game played this year, Diane Walljasper, sophomore guard, replied, "L&M, because it was the only game that I thought we were really going to lose."

"Kathy McGuire and I sing a certain song and then concentrate on only the game," is what Amy Petersen does in preparation for the games.

The Fresh.-Soph. team ended the season with an 11-0 record, a 34.3 defensive average, and a 61.5 offensive average.

Bulldogs Capture Sub-State Runner-up

"I didn't think we would do as well as we did. I was surprised," stated Coach McConnell about the Bulldogs appearance in Substate play at Muscatine. The Bulldogs beat Columbus, Mount Pleasant, and Central Lee before playing Northeast of Gooselake. Jeff Lipper commented, "Gooselake had a good crowd that really helped them out. They also had good size and used it well."

The Bulldogs broke 2 records: they had thelowest defensive average, 37.3, since the new gym was built in 1960. The team also had the lowest offensive average, 50.2. The tough defense moved the team into the second winning club with the record of 20 wins and 2 loses.

The team had some weak spots in addition to the strong assists. The boys were out-sized in every game but made up for it with the good outside shooting of Brian Mueller and Andy Fedoris. Dave Krieger was the leader of the team on the court giving the plays and instructions. Only 4 times the Bulldogs had to come from behind: twice was against New London, where the teams split. Bill Kelly stated, "New London's ball team was good but our comeback was really nifty!"

The Bulldogs had 6 close games and won 5 of them in the last couple of minutes due to the good scouting reports and taking time to work for the good shots.

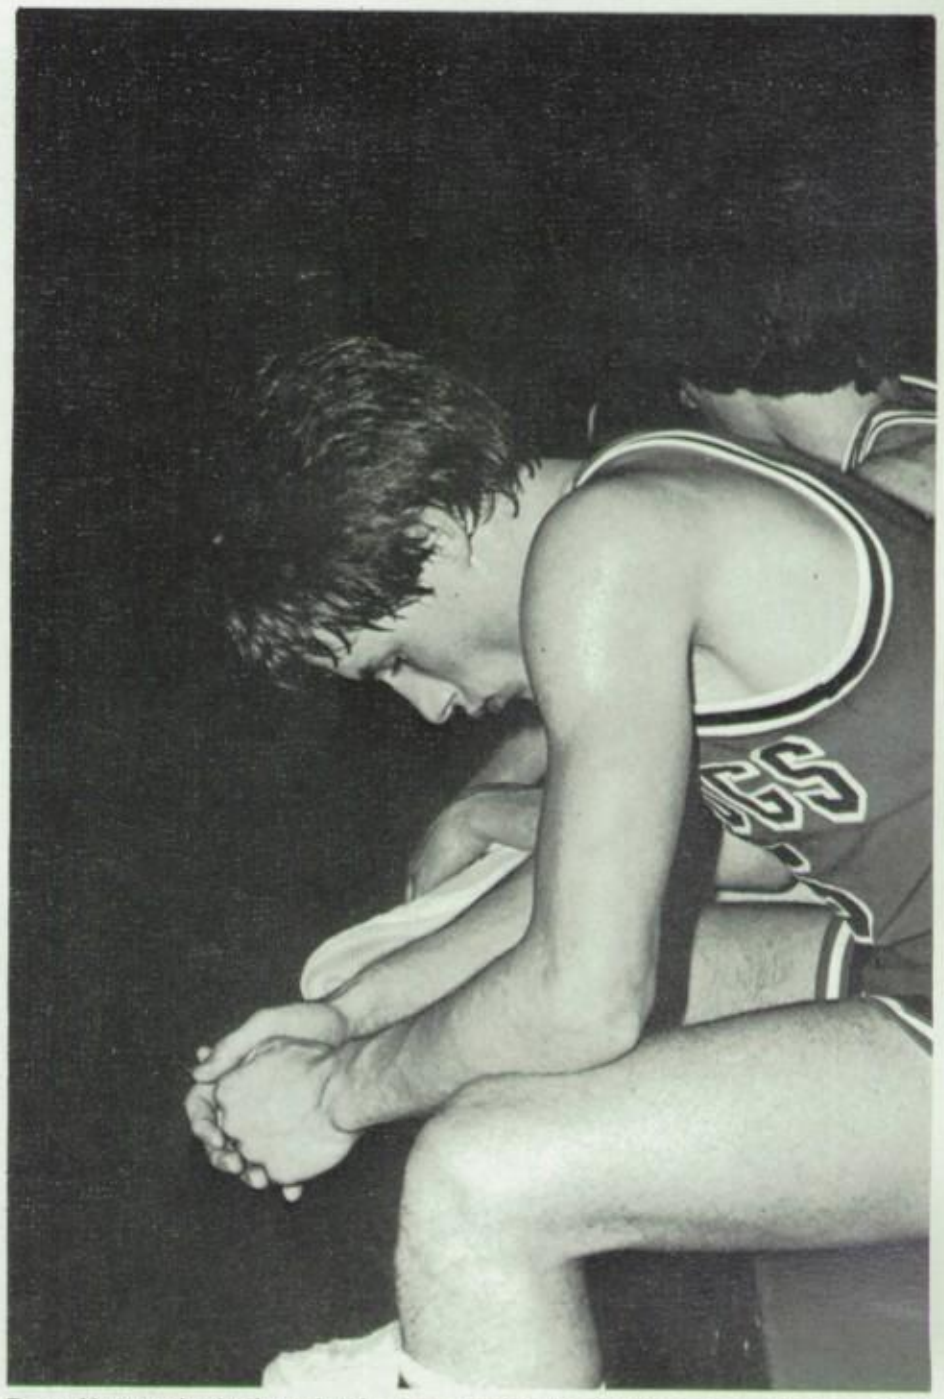
The starting five for the Bulldogs were Dave Kreiger and Jeff Lipper at guards, Mike Brown and Brian Mueller at forwards, and Tim Distelhorst at center. The Bulldogs also had a lot of bench strength with Andy Fedoris, Donald Roelfs, and Dave Hamilton. Dave Kreiger and Brian Mueller were voted captains during the Districts and Substate games.

Four people got honors for their excellent play on offense and defense. Brian Mueller was named 1st Team All-Conference and KBUR All-Prep Team. Dave Kreiger was named 2nd Team All-Conference. Mike Brown and Andy Fedoris named Honorable Mention All-Conference.

The Mediapolis Fresh-Soph had a smashing year only losing 1 but winning 12. Two of the biggest advantages the Bulldogs had over their opponents were their size and the aggressive defense. Although two of the sophomores, Donald Roelfs and Andy Fedoris, didn't play, they had plenty of bench strength. Mr. Harshbarger, coach of the Fresh-Soph, stated, "We had the best team I have ever coached." The Bulldogs crushed 17 different records, team and individuals together. Larry Johnston smashed several records including: most points in one season, 212; most rebounds in one game with 22 and in one season with 150; best rebounding average, 11.5; and the most field goals in one season, 97. He also had the most turnovers in one season with 57. Randy Meeker got his hand in too with the most steals in one game, 10, against Wapello.

The team also broke a lot of records. A few of them are: the fewest points allowed in one game with 17; fewest points allowed per game average, 34.9; most turnovers by opposition in one season, 408; and the most consecutive wins in one season with 10.

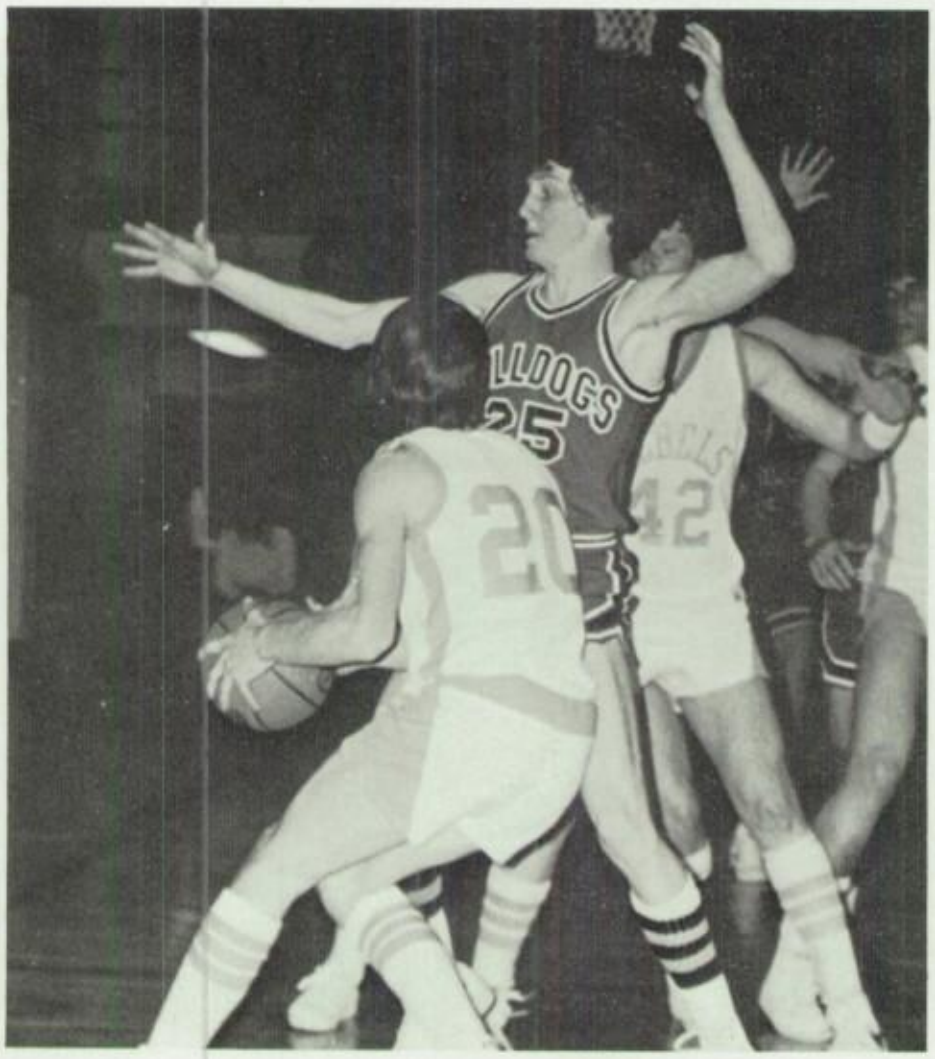
The Bulldogs only loss was to Columbus Wildcats. Larry Johnston commented, "They were very dirty but we should have played better in the 2nd quarter of the game."



Dave Kreiger looks hopelessly down when the Bulldogs lose the boys' Substate game to Northeast of Gooselake.

The hot handed, Brian Mueller was the leading scorer of the Bulldogs, having 357 points.

Working it in, Jeff Lipper goes for his 16th assist this season and Andy Fedoris tries to add to his 97 field goals as he is shooting 46% from the field.



Mike Brown was one of the top rebounders this year pulling down 62.

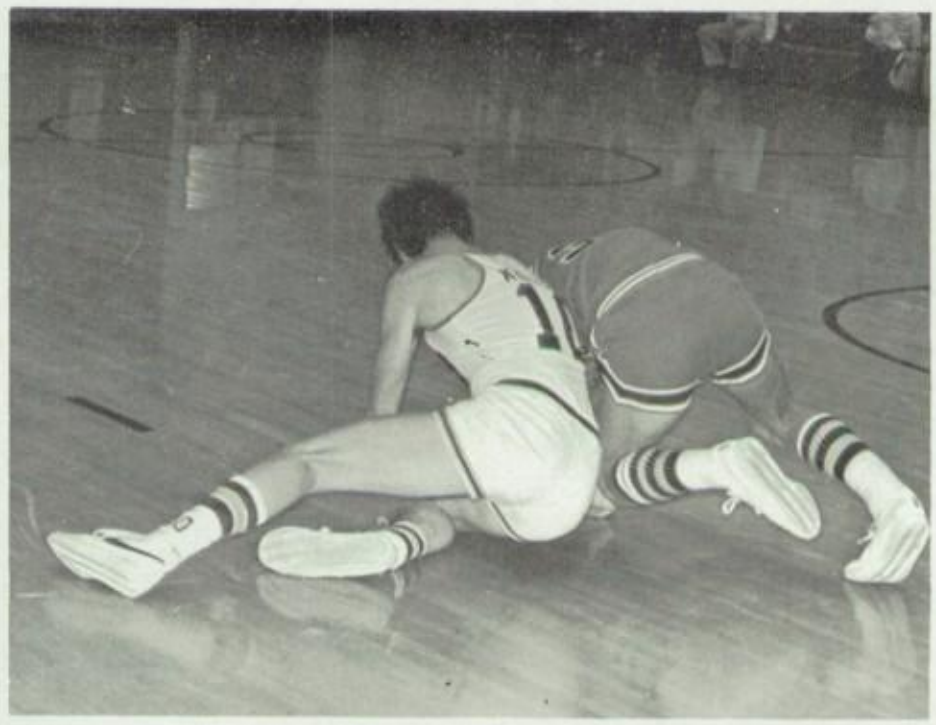
Second Row: Mr. K. Harshbarger, R. Meeker, A. Fedoris, T. Distelhorst, L. Johnston, D. Roelfs, M. Brown, B. Mueller, Mr. L. McConnell.



Hustling for a loose ball, Donald Roelfs helps the Bulldogs to beat the L&M Falcons the first game out of two in the season.

Tim Distelhorst was tied with having the best field goal percentage this year shooting in 47% of his shots.

Seniors Lead Team

The girls' track team, led by six seniors, had its best season since Mr. Kaufman started his career four years ago. Probably the most exciting thing that happened was winning a second-place trophy at the Bruinette Relays in Danville. That was the first trophy the girls' track team has acquired since 1974. There weren't just happy times this season, however. Hoping to be one of the top three teams in the Conference and getting fifth was a major disappointment, but they bounced right back and did surprisingly well at District. Out of the 18 events possible, 9 placed. No one got to go to state, although Ruth Beyerhelm and Sheila Schrader came close in the 100 M. hurdles and open 400 M. dash, respectively. When asked about the season as a whole, Mr. Kaufamn stated, "It was great!"

Roelfs Goes To State

Donald Roelfs won the half mile run at districts in Mt. Pleasant. Donald turned in the time of 2:05.9 but it was not his best (2:04). He is the only one this year that qualified for state and the only one for seven years. Brad Schulte finished fourth with a time of 17 seconds in the hurdles, his best time, and Steve Hedges finished sixth with a time of 55 seconds in the open quarter.

The boys also broke some records this year in the mile relay which consisted of Steve Hedges, Mark Berg, Keith Pflum, and Donald Roelfs, the open quarter mile by Steve and the half mile by Donald.

John Murphy psychs up for the start of the 400 meter dash.

Being heavily pursued, Greg Berg runs hard to stay ahead of his opponent during the mile run.

New Coach Rohr Enters Golf Program

Front Row: M. Kelly, C. Hauswith, B. Vose, B. Johnston.
Back Row: J. Abel, K. Thie, A. Fedoris, R. Robu, J. Abel, J. Rector.

The golf teams were young and lacked experience, but could be a promising team next year. The girls' golf team finished off their season 0 and 5, while the boys won 2 of their meets but lost 10. However, the girls took 4th place at conference and took 7th at sectionals. Kayla Minnick was the team leader as she set numerous season records. Kayla had the best average score of 58.5.

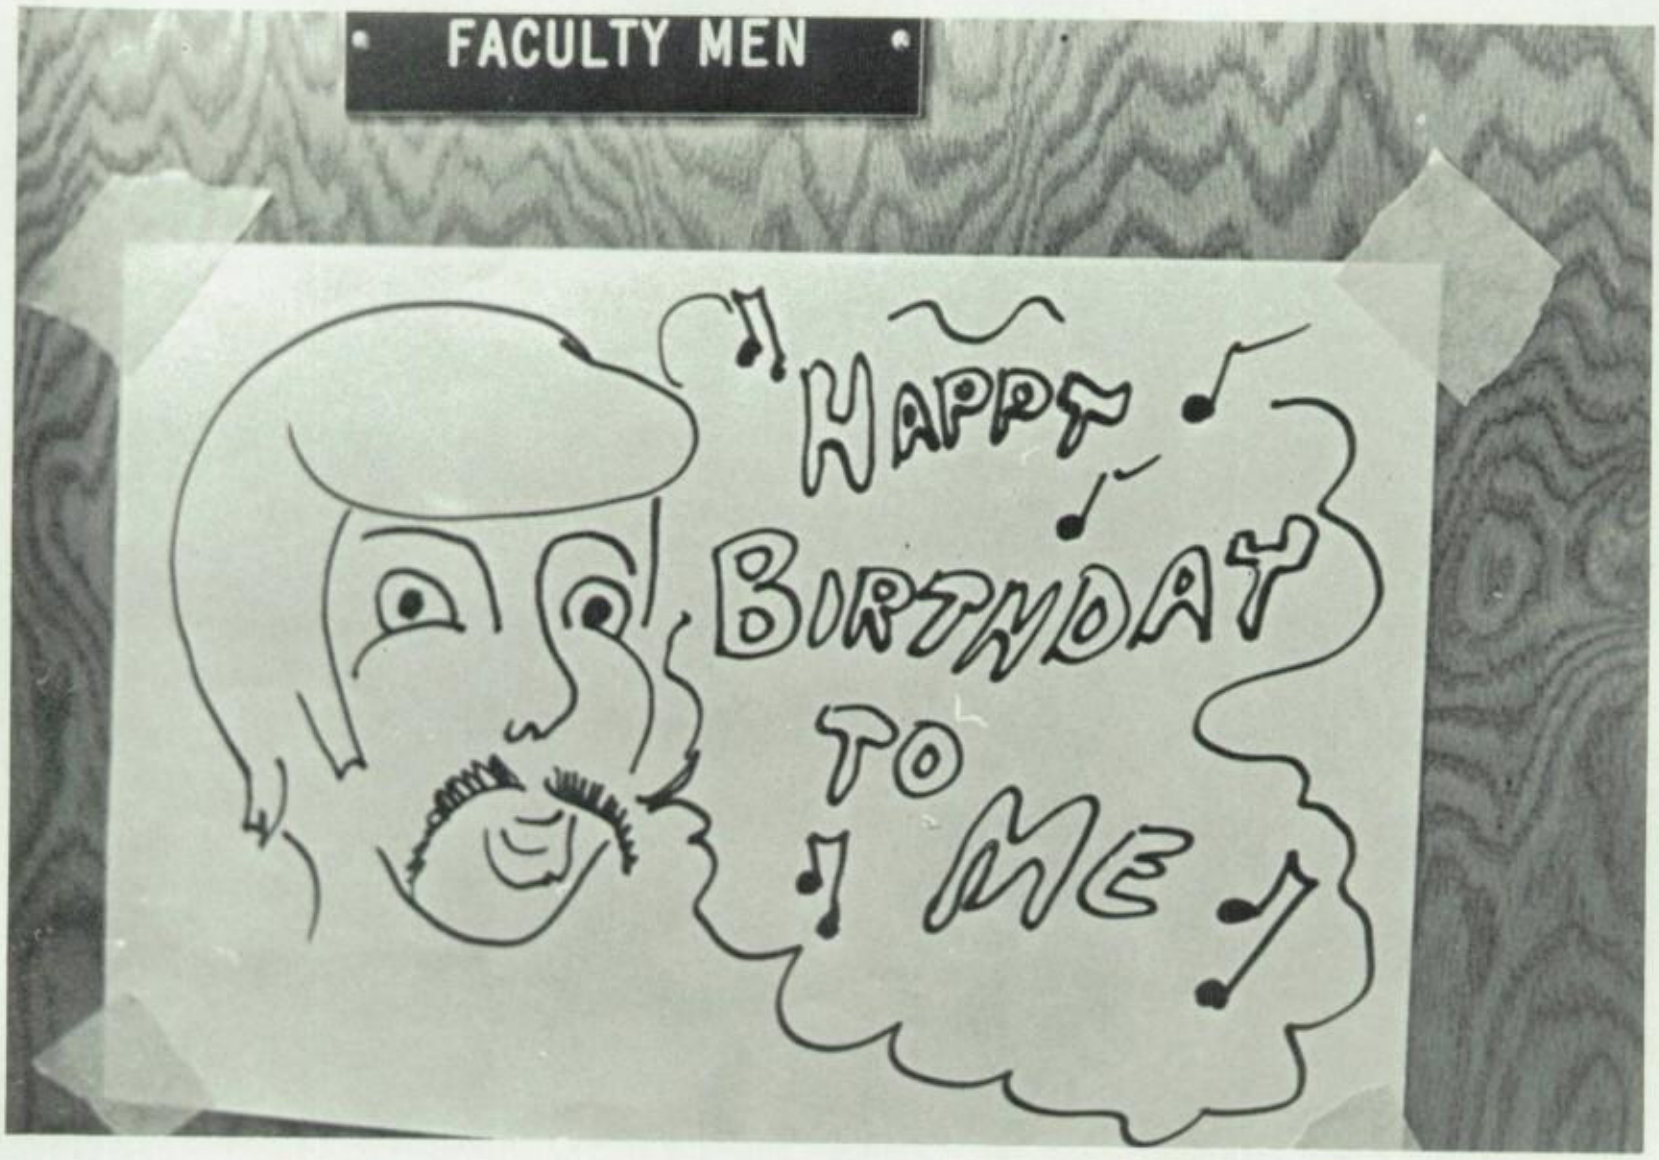
"This was a building year, and we should do better next year if the same girls return," stated Coach Rohr. "The girls have been improving all year long."

Randy Robu was the boys' team leader. He set the school record for the lowest score of 38 in 9 holes. Senior John Abel will be graduating, but the team should do well next year. "The team consists mainly of sophomores and a few freshmen. Randy Robu is the only Junior," commented Mr. Rohr. The boys placed 5th at Central of Argyle and conference. They also placed at districts to finish off their season.

Girls on the team inlcuded: Brenda Staats, Terri Burgus, Mary Darbyshire, Bronya Cling, Kayla Minnick, Amy Peterson, Brenda Luckenbill.

Trying to prepare themselves for the upcoming season, Brian Johnston and Mike Kelly practice putting.

The only senior on the team, Brenda Staats practices her swing.



PEOPLE

All of our school life would be nothing without people. People make it all happen. But there is a time to let things happen and a time to make things happen. We are now preparing constantly for our respective futures. Everything we do today will mold that person you call "myself." We experiment over years and years to finally become.

Jr's Link to Life

The Junior class brought with them into the 80's a chain of class achievements that began in the fall of 1968. Links have been added and removed over the years with the coming of classmates. But this year many new links have lengthened their chain.

Some of the naturally enthusiastic juniors were the cheerleaders: Chris Reighard, football and basketball; Lori Bloyd, Kris Schrock and Sheila Schrader, wrestling.

The Band Auxiliary Unit had; Lee Loper and Lori Bloyd, rifles; Diane Roelfs, Annette Lucas, Michele Boyd, Lori Luckenbill, and Brandi McCarty, flags; and Chris Reighard, baton twirler.

Other additions were by Miles Erickson for 2nd at State Wrestling. Brian Mueller received recognition when he was chosen for the 1st team All-Conference in basketball, along with Sally Lundeen, 1st team All-Conference in Softball. Several won at State Speech Contest. Kathy Howell was nominated for the All-State Speech Festival in 'Original Oratory.' Kathy also was chosen to be a 'Page' in Des Moines.

Pam Hyndman sang the female lead in the all-school play 'Guys and Dolls.'

Two Junior girls went to state with the girls' basketball team. They were Diane Roelfs and Jeanette Sisco.

Next year the chain of the 1981 graduating class will be complete and new chains will start as each goes on his own.

Many times at noon Lolly Morrison was seated in her locker studying with Julie Crow.

STUDENTS SPEAK OUT

Many of us students have gripes, complaints and suggestions for improvements in our school. Very few, if any, of these are heard, except through talking amongst ourselves; and therefore, nothing ever seems to be done about them. One sure way of getting the attention of others, especially the attention of those who can do something about it, is writing editorials. For any of you who have taken News Media class, you know that you have been given the opportunity to write a 300 word editorial, on your choice of topic, for a semester exam. The following are excerpts from a few of the year's papers.

FOOD THROWING

"Food that has been thrown in the past has been of quite a variety: peas, beans, shoestring potaotes, and corn. These were the most commonly thrown while some of the other things were quite odd, such as: mashed potaotes, hamburger, chicken & noodles, and a cream chicken sandwich . . . Martha Trautner commented, 'If that's what they're into, then it's alright.' Martha thinks that the only solution to the problem is to 'block off a section' for the food throwers . . . Tony Johnston feels that punishment isn't necessary because it's 'harmless.' Tony is a pineapple tidbit tosser. He also likes heaving noodles and salt into the air. He once hit a freshman girl with a whole bowl of beans . . ."

"For as long as I can remember, school lunches have been joked about. I'm sure we've all heard about the meatloaf that bounces or the rolls that appear to be made of rock. Anymore, this isn't the only humor that is being made out of school lunches. Apparently, most of the food is leaving the plate but not necessarily being comsumed . . ."

". . . the teachers can go to their lounge and smoke or get coffee to drink in class, but the kids can't smoke in the restrooms or drink pop during the class period. Is that fair? . . . So, you think you're 'home free' after you find toilet paper, right? Wrong. Now try finding paper towels . . . The floor is actually sticky. There are dust bunnies harbored in the corners. (And I mean big dust bunnies.) I don't think the floor has ever had a mop introduce itself. . ."

SHOES

"As you probably know, Dr. Scholl excercise sandals are pretty popular. But, have you ever seen anyone wear socks with them? When I asked Pam Hyndman about it, she said, 'I have a blister and I'm sick of wearing Band Aids. At least my feet won't get cold.' Well, to each his own. . ."

NOON HOUR

". . . take noon hour volleyball games. It's a terrific idea but this year there wasn't even a final game to decide the champs because 'the weather is too nice.' I'm sure the kids wouldn't have minded sweating a little to decide the winner.

. . . Open noons for seniors and second semester juniors is great also, but what about the underclassman who can't leave (legally)? Is enduring endless noon hours part of the ritual of becoming an upperclassman?"

Freshmen Contribute

"Unique and different? Are we unique and different?" questioned Shirley Wehage.

Some of the outstanding achievers included Patti Luckenbill, Julie Pilling, Kim Holsteen, Greg Wischmeier, and Becky Bierwirth for high grade averages; Sheri Anliker for track achievements; Stan Ruth, Trent Hancock, and Terri Bloyd for State Speech Contest. Terri was also on Student Council with David Pflum. Pam Zippe had a lead part in the Christmas program and Becky Bierworth played a solo at Coffee House.

High school differed from junior high. Darla Sutcliffe commented, "It's a lot better; you don't have to answer to so many teachers." Shirley didn't like the concourse, and Susan Howell replied that the freshmen class was so unique because of "all the individualistic people we have; different from everyone else."

Unique Sophomore Class

The Sophomores look out for each other and help others. Roxanne McCarty said, "Our class may have all kinds of people but we're all friends and we stick together."

One said, "We like being different. It makes you feel special in some ways." Besides being closer, they do very well in sports too. Diane Walljasper commented, "We have a lot of athletic people in our class."

Becky Umthun found that the hot summer days of Softball often requird a break.

The time has come when we must "Break Away" from our closely linked chain. All of you will do it someday, in one way or another. But until that time comes, remember this: "The window is not the view, the window allows the view."

Hugh Prather
"Notes on Love and Courage"

Shirley,

To a crazy chick
who is really funny.
Stay just like you are. Good luck in everything.

Friends always,

Sue "84"

To a real squirrel,
You are both squirrelly
but I think your will and crazy sometimes.
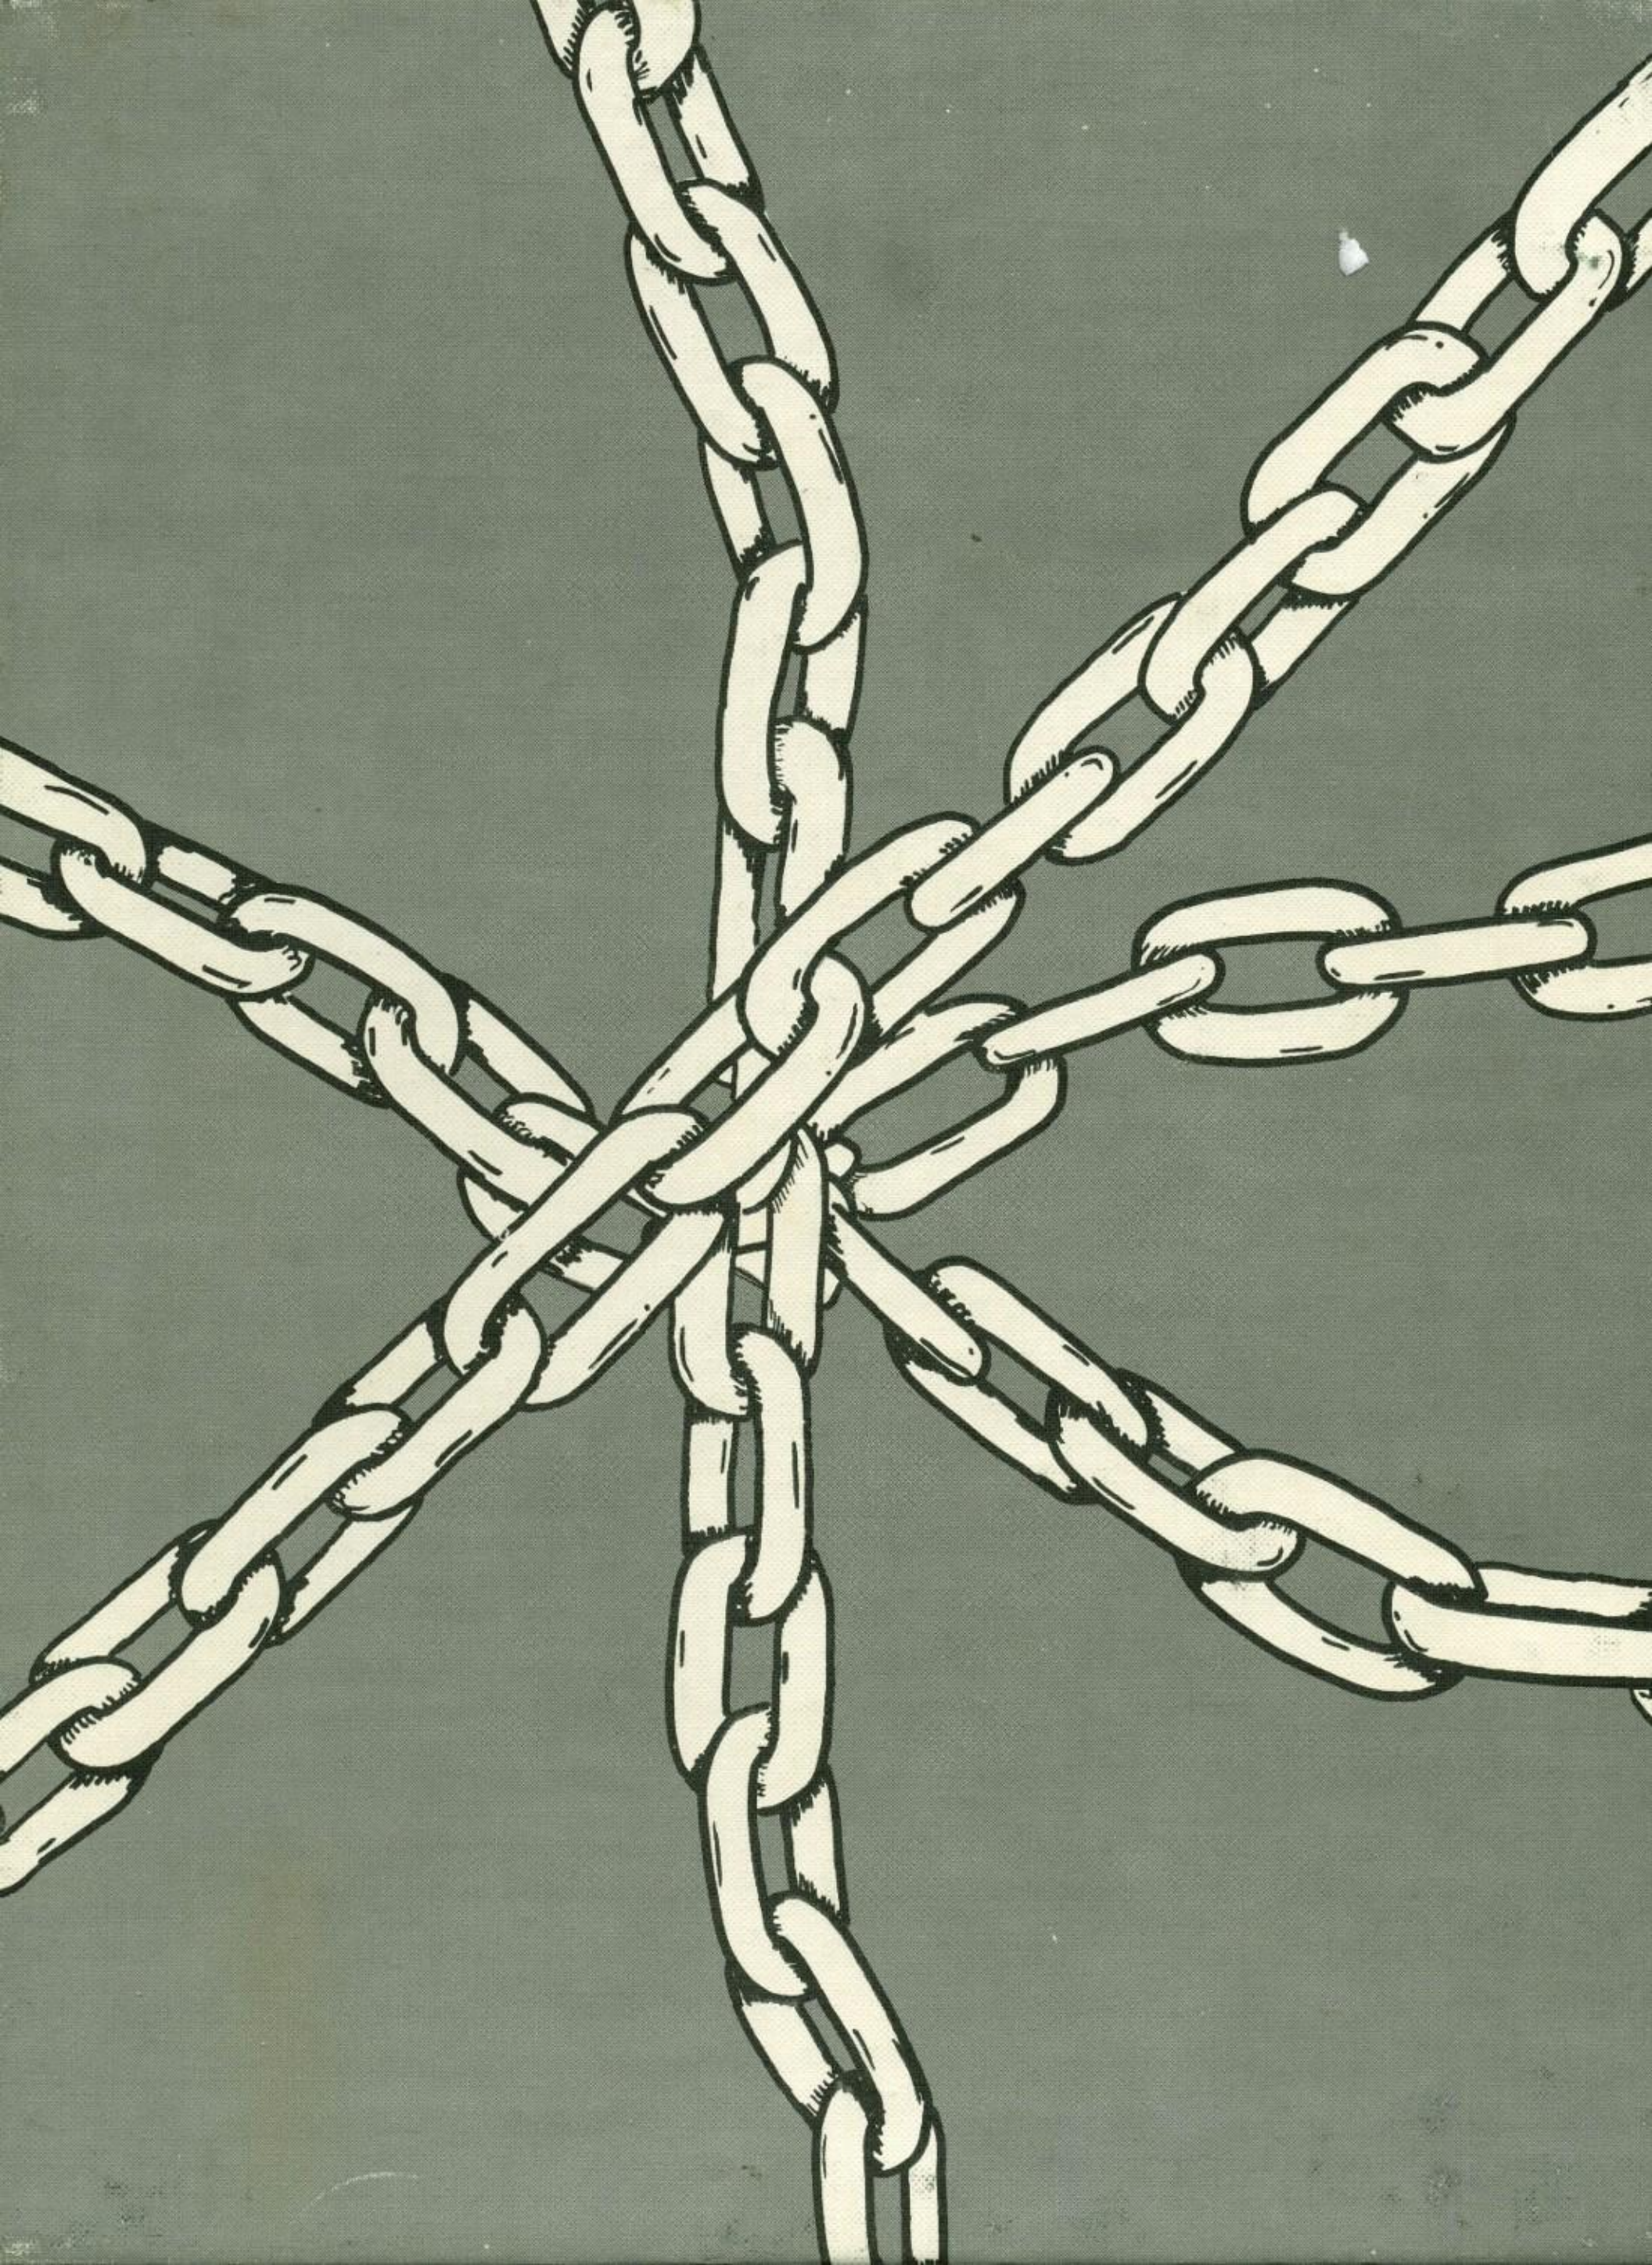
Good luck,
Paula Lynn


To Shirley,
You maybe
crazy and squirrelly,
but your name
is still Shirley,
and Break a leg!!!!!!!
Good Luck!
Traci Reed
